Government Upheld In Most Important Test Since Election Of 1924

Nelson Victory, Following Triumph in New Westminster, Shows Province Is Still Behind Administration, Says Premier MacLean on Return Here; Government's Success in Next General Election Assured Now, He Declares

The new MacLean Government was sustained by Nelson electors yesterday in the most critical test of public opinion in British Columbia since the general election of 1924.

The victory of the Liberal candidate, Mayor J. A. McDonald over his Conservative opponent, Dr. L. E. Borden, following close upon the Government's triumph in the recent New Westminster by-election, was hailed all over the Province as a striking indication of public confidence in the administration of Premier MacLean. The third and decisive by-election of this year registered two successes for the Government and two successive victories for Dr. MacLean since he became leader of the Liberal Party.

In the largest ballot ever polled in Nelson, Mr. McDonald received 1,077 votes against 1,048 for Dr. Borden, a majority of 29. Altogether 2,125 votes were cast, many Nelson electors temporarily outside the riding returning to the city to vote after one of the most intensive campaigns ever waged in the Province.

A DECISIVE POLL

Nelson's vote yesterday not only left the Government secure in the Legislature, but vitally affected its prospects in the next general election. So much public attention had been focused on Nelson as the third and decisive by-election of this year that it had become the most important political contest since the last general election. By winning it, the Government demonstrated that it still dominates the Province.

In the House itself the Government has retained its old strength of twenty-four Liberals, as against seventeen Conservatives and seven Independents. Of the Independents the Government is virtually assured of the support of three at all times, while two of the remaining four have voted with it consistently, given the administration a potential majority of at least twenty-eight, not including the Speaker's vote, to nineteen.

BLOW TO TORIES

Loss of the Nelson seat came as a staggering blow to the Conservative Party, following its overwhelming defeat in New Westminster a few weeks ago. Conservatives who at the Conservative Party's Kamloops convention a year ago had counted upon Hon. S. F. Tolmie's leadership to sweep all before it, were utterly disillusioned by the results of the two recent polls. Every ounce of Conservative energy was thrown into the Nelson campaign, while Dr. Tolmie broke all records in promising the riding the immediate construction of a huge bridge across Kootenay Lake and even the building of a road from Hope to Princeton through the Coast mountains.

TWO KEY SEATS

Nelson's vote shows that the Government still retains the confidence of this Province, Premier MacLean said on his return here from the interior riding to-day.

"New Westminster and Nelson," he said, "are two key seats, New Westminster being in the centre of Coast population and Nelson forming the heart of the southern interior. By winning both those seats the Government has shown that it still retains the confidence of the Province. The Conservative propaganda that the Government has been slipping is entirely disproved by the events of the last few weeks. The Government has not slipped, and it is going to win the next general election, make no mistake about that.

OVERCAME OBSTACLES

"It is true that the majority for the Liberal candidate in Nelson was numerically small, but considering the factors operating against the Government there, it was a striking victory indeed. In the first place, Nelson had been a strong Conservative seat for many years. Prior to 1916 it had been Conservative for nearly a generation, and even in the Liberal landslide of that year it remained loyal to the Conservative Party. In 1920, when the Liberal Government was sustained in the Province, Nelson returned a Conservative, and it was not until 1921 in a by-election that a Liberal was elected. After 1924, the late Hon. John Oliver was elected in Nelson, but he was the Prime Minister of the Province. Nelson, on the whole, was an extremely difficult seat to win.

VICTORIA GIRL FOURTH IN N.Y. SPEED FINALS

Miss Evelyn Neate Near Top in World's Typewriting Contest

Miss Evelyn Neate, daughter of John L. Neate, 2949 Albina Street, won fourth place in the world's typewriting speed contest in the novice or non-professional class, last night at Carnegie Hall, New York, according to messages received here to-day by James Beatty, head of the Sprott-Shaw Schools.

MISS EVELYN NEATE

Miss Neate, early this year, with a speed of seventy-one words a minute won the school championship of Canada, giving her the Seitz scholarship from the Underwood Typewriter president. She ranked third in the British Columbia Civil Service examinations last April.

The figures in the novice competition are not yet available but Miss Neate has been writing for some time at an average speed of eighty words per minute.

Of the other Canadian girls in last night's contest in New York, a girl from Calgary came seventh, while Miss Erma Wright, who has been for several years the open champion of Canada, was disqualified because she turned two pages of her copy at one time.

Mr. Beatty said to-day that Miss Neate was the only one of the Canadian operators who has taken a position and worked regularly since gaining her first speed titles. The others have all been carried on and their training continued under one of the typewriter companies.

George Hossfield, last year's world open champion speed typist, last night retained his championship by writing for one hour with a net speed of 133 words a minute. Mr. Hossfield visited Victoria early this year and gave a demonstration of his typing speed here.

The sessions will probably continue for two days.

The board has investigated the salmon run in the Fraser River, with particular attention to the area near Hell's Gate. Certain officials believe a stockade remained after the river was cleared of landslides following blasting operations on C.N.R. construction.

By Staff Representative

Nanaimo, Oct. 18.—The resolutions committee of the Union of B.C. Municipalities got through its work this morning and will commence presentation of its findings to the convention this afternoon. A feature of their report, it is understood, will be the support accorded proposals initiated by Victoria, nine of the ten resolutions submitted by the capital being recommended to the union for adoption. The exception is the suggestion that municipalities be allowed to administer funds created under the Superannuation Act. This was not favored, and will be laid before the convention for direct action.

TREATMENT FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS IS BEING SOUGHT

New York, Oct. 18.—The New York Evening Post says twenty monkeys at the Willard Parker Hospital are being fattened and groomed for experiments in the search for a cure for infantile paralysis. The experiments will be conducted by the bureau of labor of the New York City Health Department, under the supervision of Dr. W. H. Park, its director.

Five monkeys will be given the germs of infantile paralysis and allowed to survive or perish. The Post says, according to the course nature follows, without interference of medical science. These will be the controls by which the results upon the others can be judged.

The other fifteen will be saved, if that is possible, by the most skilled care and thorough knowledge medical science can command. If the methods employed are successful, a cure for infantile paralysis may be found when the cases are treated in the first two or three days, which will lessen the danger from that disease in the same manner as diphtheria anti-toxin has ended the danger of that once terrible scourge

POLICE SEEK MOTOR DEATH EXPLANATION

Mrs. Norma Anderson Dies at Hospital After Seizure in Automobile

Near Accident May Have Contributed to Death, Rumor Says

In view of the suggestion that the excitement of a near accident was a contributing cause of the death of Mrs. Norma Anderson, Provincial Police are investigating the rumor of a slight collision between the car in which Mrs. Anderson was riding with her husband, Henry Anderson, and another vehicles, driven by Capt. W. J. Johnson, early last evening on the Island Highway. Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, this morning said death was due to natural causes.

Mrs. Anderson was taken suddenly ill in the automobile in which she was riding just outside the home of Dr. D. B. Holden. Taken into the house of the doctor he immediately ordered her removal to hospital, according to information in the hands of Provincial Police investigating officers.

She died as she reached hospital, and before anything could be done for her. Dr. Hart stated this morning, after investigating the case.

NATURAL CAUSES

Dr. Hart said that it was apparently due to natural causes that Mrs. Anderson died last night.

Excitement may have been a contributing factor to her death, Dr. Hart admitted. But he added that was not suggesting it was so. She might have died by her own fireside had she been there last night, he asserted, instead of in hospital, after a seizure while driving.

Mrs. Anderson, who was sixty years of age, and her husband were on their way to Victoria from Bamberton, where they resided, when the woman was suddenly stricken. Mr. Anderson is employed by the B.C. Cement Company.

POLICE INVESTIGATE

The rumor of the near accident and the report of a slight collision between the Anderson car and that driven by Capt. Johnson is the subject of investigation by police. While Capt. Johnson believes that the two machines did scrape each other, Mr. Anderson, husband of the woman, says there was no collision. This was what police had discovered up to an early hour this afternoon. They had arranged an interview with Mr. Anderson later in the day.

Capt. Johnson claims that his front axle was slightly bent by what he describes as a scarcely perceptible collision between his and the Anderson car.

There are one son and two daughters besides the husband surviving Mrs. Anderson, Norman Anderson, Miss Winifred Anderson and Mrs. McIntosh. The funeral will be held from the B.C. Funeral chapel on Friday at 2 p.m.

OCEAN FLIGHT START DELAYED

The fliers hope to reach Copenhagen.

Holidays Are Ended In Italy

Mussolini's Wish to be Carried Out; no Interruption of Work in Fascist State

Rome, Oct. 18.—Holidays are to be abolished in Italy.

Determined not to follow in the steps of imperial Rome, with its many holidays, Premier Mussolini proposed that speech-making and public celebrations should be abolished and the Council of Ministers has enacted his proposal into a decree. The decree announces the move is being made so the functioning of the Government and the work of the people shall not be interrupted.

Not only will holidays be abolished, but the Fascist state will celebrate two important events in its history on the Sundays that fall nearest, so the wheels of industry may continue to turn for six days of the week These are the Fascist march on Rome, which made October 28, 1922, and the armistice between Italy and Austria November 4, 1918.

NOVA SCOTIA IS SOON TO ABOLISH ITS UPPER HOUSE OF LEGISLATURE

Appeal of Government to Judicial Committee of Privy Council in London Succeeds; After Change Is Made Quebec Will Have Only Two-Chamber Provincial Legislature in Canada

London Oct. 18 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Nova Scotia Government has won its appeal in the matter of the proposed abolition of the legislative Council or Upper Chamber of the Legislature of the Province the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council here having given judgment to-day in favor of the appellant the Rhodes Government.

The appeal by the Provincial Government was taken after a disagreement among the judges of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court to which the Government had submitted the question of its power to abolish the Legislative Council. The Government's purpose was to bring about the abolition of the upper chamber either by increasing its membership beyond the present number of twenty-one to this end, or dismissing the members of that body at the Government's pleasure, but the members of the Legislative Council fought against this and the question was referred to the Supreme Court of the province.

When the judges of the Supreme Court failed to agree on the matter, the Government resolved to seek a decision from the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Its decision is in favor of the Nova Scotia Government.

ARGUED IN JULY

The appeal came before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council July 18 last and the arguments of counsel in the case lasted two days. The Judicial Committee hearing the appeal was comprised of Viscount Cave Lord High Chancellor and Lords Haldane, Warrington and Wrenbury, and Mr. Justice Lyman P. Duff of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Hon. W. L. Hall, K.C., Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, presented the case for the province and Stuart Jenks, K.C., Halifax, was counsel for the Nova Scotia Legislative Council.

CONSTITUTION DISCUSSED

Attorney-General Hall recited the enactments under which the constitution of the province of Nova Scotia was established. He submitted the Lieutenant-Governor of the province, Hon James C. Tory, had power to appoint members of the Legislative Council over the present number, twenty-one, because the membership of that body was not limited, inasmuch as at the time of Confederation it was expressly provided the Legislative Council should comprise as many as were appointed from time to time at the Crown's pleasure. Mr. Hall also submitted that the power of appointment of members of the Legislative Council was vested in the Lieutenant-Governor, who also carried power to dismiss members of the Council and that every member of the Council was a public officer whom the Lieutenant-Governor could remove at his discretion.

TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION OF NOVA SCOTIA LEGISLATURE

PREMIER E. N. RHODES

Halifax, Oct. 18.—Premier E. N. Rhodes of Nova Scotia stated this morning that the Legislature would have to meet and pass an act amending the act relating to the constitution, powers and privileges of both Houses before the decision of the Privy Council in London, giving the Government authority to abolish the Legislative Council could be made operative. It was possible, he added, that a special session of the Legislature would be called for that purpose.

1,000 MINERS IDLE IN DRUMHELLER COAL FIELD IN ALBERTA

Strikers Called Together to Decide on Question of Picketing

Calgary, Oct. 18.—With all the elements of potential trouble, Drumheller is nevertheless taking its latest coal strike more quietly than ever before in the history of industrial disputes in the valley. Approximately 1,000 men are out, supporting the demand of the Canadian Mine Workers' Union for recognition. The men stopped work yesterday morning.

Picketing has not been resorted to, although this matter will be taken up at a meeting of the strikers this afternoon.

WORK IS OFFERED

The operators of the mines involved in the strike have made no further move, other than to post notices at the mines offering work to those who care to take it.

This appeal has been ignored and the Elgin, Hy-Grade, Scranton, Atlas, Monarch and Wetsern Gem mines are still idle, their crews out "100 per cent."

AIMEE M'PHERSON SUFFERS BURNS

Los Angeles Evangelist Injured by Electrical Cold-curing Device

Los Angeles, Oct. 18—Aimee Semple McPherson was at Mount Wilson to-day, recovering from severe burns and shock suffered last Thursday when an electrical device she was using to treat a cold became short-circuited.

The famous evangelist had been using the apparatus as a cold cure during the evening and about three o'clock the next morning her secretary, Miss Emma Schaefer, awakened by a muffled scream, found Mrs. McPherson helpless in the folds of the short-circuited equipment. Before the current heating the device could be shut off Mrs. McPherson was burned and shocked. She was unconscious for an hour.

Mrs. McPherson was unable to conduct the Friday and Sunday services or the regular Saturday night services at the Angelus Temple. She said she expected to resume work at the temple to-morrow.

Olmsted Not Present As Trial Starts In Seattle

Bail of $3,000 Forfeited; P. L. Craignic Also Missing; Two Score Defendants

Seattle, Oct. 18.—Five of the two-score defendants in the "second Olmsted" liquor conspiracy case were dismissed on motion of the Government for lack of evidence when the trial of the long delayed action began in federal court here to-day.

Those dismissed were George Mitchell, former deputy sheriff of Island County; William G. Morrison, Seattle police officer; Myer Romans, oil man, who is serving a sentence in the Snohomish County jail in lieu of paying a liquor fine; Vernen A. Partlow, former secret agent of the Canadian Customs anti-narcotics service, and George E. Rogers, United States coastguardsman.

CASE OF PROSECUTION

Arthur E. Simon, chief assistant United States Attorney-General, was ready to outline the Government's case against the many defendant's as soon as a tentative jury was drawn.

Government witnesses, Simon indicated, would describe a huge rum-running and bootlegging organization, alleged by the prosecution to have organized machinery to "fix" members of the Seattle police department, the King and Island County sheriffs' offices, harbor patrolmen and coastguardsmen.

Liquor cargoes flowed into the United States by train, barges, speed boats, steamers and by automobile, through Admiralty Inlet, Deception

PRAIRIE ROBBERS ESCAPE WITH $3,196

Armed Bandits Get Away After Crime at Village of Kingsford, Sask.

Regina, Oct. 18.—More than $3,000 in currency was obtained by armed and masked bandits who carried out a sensational holdup at 11 o'clock last night in the village of Kingsford, twenty miles north of the international boundary and eight miles from Bienfait, Saskatchewan.

The general store at Kingsford serves as paying agency for the Matheson Lindsay and Saskatchewan Pool grain elevator companies, and the safe last night contained $3,196 in cash belonging to those two firms.

Edward Chamney, general storekeeper of Kingsford, was in the store. The buyer for the Lindsay Grain Company also was present. Chamney and his customer found themselves staring into the muzzles of a shotgun and two automatic, and from behind blue masks came a command for them to put their hands up.

While one bandit covered the customer with revolvers the other directed Chamney to open the safe.

After obtaining the money the thieves dashed to the front of the building, climbed into a waiting automobile and drove off.

FIRST OLD AGE PENSION IS PAID

Alberni, Oct. 18.—An interesting ceremony was held in the Government office here when W. H. Derby was presented with the first cheque issued under the Old Age Pension Act. Mr. Derby came to this Province in 1871 and to Alberni in 1896, and celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday last Spring.

A. W. Neill, M.P., who made the presentation, said it might almost be called an historical event, being the first cheque issued in Canada for an old age pension.

Mr. Neill was pleased British Columbia should be the first to put the act into force.

RUTH ELDER NOW ON WAY TO LISBON

She and George Haldeman Cheered by Crowd When Sailing From Azores

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, Oct. 18.—Still wearing Captain Goos' cap as a reminder of her thrilling rescue by the steamship Barendrecht, Ruth Elder, sailed early this morning for Lisbon in the Portuguese mail steamer Lima with the cheers of a great crowd of spectators whose hearts she had completely won ringing in her ears.

With her sailed Capt. George W. Haldeman, her co-pilot on their transatlantic venture in the monoplane American Girl, and the two waved a vigorous farewell as the mail vessel crept away from the city bathed in brilliant moonlight. The last view of the aviators was the picture of a tiny figure aboard the Lima, waving her hands and blowing kisses.

"Has my luggage gone below?" was the first question she asked, as she boarded the ship and the crowd laughed at the quip, knowing that the clothes she had on—plus fours and a red sweater—were all she had been able to secure from the plane, which sank in the Atlantic.

The two fliers are on their way to Paris.

MANY AUTOGRAPHS

The deck of the Lima had been a scene of eager expectation for many hours before and a large crowd had gathered, which broke into applause when Miss Elder came up the gangway. The two fliers were soon surrounded by autograph seekers and complied willingly enough with requests for their signatures.

PRAIRIE THRESHING SPEEDED BY SUMMER-LIKE WEATHER

Winnipeg, Oct. 18.—Threshing was being speeded up to-day throughout the prairie region under ideal weather conditions. Midsummer temperatures were reported in widely separated sections, parts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba "sweltering" in a heat wave which reached the peak of 82. degrees in the shade within the past twenty-four hours.

Despite a shortage of farm help in some districts, harvesters were being lured back to the grain fields by the promise of pay reaching in some instances as high as $7.50 a day. Millions of bushels of grain are still unthreshed and the farmers generally have shown a willingness to pay higher wages than to speculate upon the weather with small crews.

The latest reports indicate there is likely to be some loss in quality of grain which has been drenched by intermittent rain and snow during the last two weeks.

German Plane Is At Lisbon To-day

Lisbon, Oct. 18—The Heinkel hydro-aeroplane D-1220, en route from Warnemuende, Germany, to the United States by way of the Azores, alighted on the river here at 9 a.m. to-day. The plane, piloted by Horst Merz, completed a hop of about 250 miles from Vigo, Spain.

RUTH ELDER NOW ON WAY TO LISBON

favorable weather to resume its flight across the Atlantic, to the United States by way of Newfoundland, has deep praise for Miss Elder.

"I have never been so charmed with another woman," said Miss Dillenz, whose path by a strange trick of fate crossed that of Miss Elder at this island town far from their respective starting points at the other ends of the earth.

The crew of the D-1230 last night decided to postpone the hop off until to-night. A heavy swell in the harbor last night made a takeoff unwise.

POPULAR ON ISLANDS

Perhaps it was the dangers through which she had passed, and the spirit she showed after the long flight over the Atlantic to the side of the Dutch tanker Barendrecht, where her pilot George Haldeman, dropped the plane, that caught the enthusiasm of the people of the Azores, but Ruth Elder was given a place in the hearts of the people a little closer than the Austrian actress, who enjoyed a swift and easy flight from her starting point.

In Paris Ruth Elder hopes to spend a pleasant few days. Many friends await her coming there.

DUMPED GASOLINE

Another chapter in the story of Miss Elder's heroism was added yesterday, during a day of receptions and laudations. Before their descent to the water, 360 miles from the Azores last Thursday, it became known, Miss Elder had her courage tested in a breath-taking manner. The fliers had been driving their plane, even then slowed down by a defective oil line, through a sleet storm. The tail of the plane, on which a heavy coating of sleet had formed, became too heavy for the plane to be kept on an even keel.

Something had to be done to right this. There was some gasoline stored in the tail of the plane, a reserve supply to be used in an emergency. Haldeman and Miss Elder consulted each other as to what should be done. They decided the reserve supply of gasoline would have to be thrown overboard. They then took turns at the "stick," while one or the other crawled along the icy fuselage of the plane and threw out some of the reserve supply into the Atlantic.

Ruth took her turn at crawling along the fuselage without a tremor, it was related, and this chore accomplished, returned to her shift at the controls.

NOVA SCOTIA SOON TO ABOLISH UPPER HOUSE OF LEGISLATURE

ARGUMENTS BY JENKS

Mr. Jenks, on behalf of the Legislative Council, which had declined to accede to the Government's expressed desire that the Council should cease to exist, argued that the pre-Confederation constitution gave authority for a Legislative Council not exceeding twenty-one members, all of whom except seven, were to hold office for life, and he contended the British North America Act, perpetuated those provisions. He said it might be admitted the sovereign, before Confederation, might have appointed more members to the Council, but such power never had been exercised.

Mr. Jenks also submitted that a member of the Legislative Council was not an officer or functionary within the meaning of the statutes as had been claimed by the Nova Scotia Government. Therefore, the power of removing such member was not possessed by the Government.

COMMISSIONERS QUOTED

The argument of both sides to the appeal rested almost entirely upon commissions and instructions issued before Confederation, 1867. An interesting point was made that in 1845 the Legislative Council adopted an address to Queen Victoria on the subject of the constitution of the Council, reciting that it was with difficulty gentlemen could be induced to accept office and praying the Queen should adopt such measures as might seem proper for establishing this breach of the Legislature on a basis compatible with the efficient and independent discharge of its duties.

The sessional indemnity of Legislative Councillors is $1,000.

The Government of Nova Scotia, Conservative, is headed by Hon. E. N Rhodes.

Quebec is the only other province in Canada with a two-chamber Legislature.

Keep Stomach Young!

Eat What You Want

When the food you eat goes into your acid-soaked stomach, it sours and can't digest, makes foul gas and sour bile. The blood takes these poisonous acids and carries them through the body. Naturally it makes you miserable and despondent, because your system is not nourished—you lose weight.

Pape's Diapepsin dissolves the acids and sweetens the stomach. It digests the food; no more sour bile is taken up by the blood. Your appetite is like a youngster's again, and gradually you get back your health, flesh and energy.

Chew a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin after meals. It tastes good, and relieves the misery of indigestion in five minutes. It will keep your stomach young and vigorous so you can eat anything you want, without being afraid of the consequences. (Advt.)

President Reid Tells Municipal Union of Year's Progress

Uncertainty of Liquor Profits and Increase in Uncontrollable Charges Stressed

By Staff Representative

Nanaimo, Oct. 18.—Welcoming the delegates to the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Union of B.C. Muuicipalities which opened this morning in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Thomas Reid, president, preceded his address with a reference to the passing of Premier Oliver, and stated "it is only fitting that we record at this time our great sorrow at the loss to the Province, since we last met, of the late Premier.

"I believe I voice the unanimous sentiment of our convention in expressing deep regrets at his death, and would suggest that we extend our sincere sympathy to his relatives," he said.

He recalled that at the last convention at Vernon fifty-six resolutions asking for changes in the Municipal Act were passed. Of this number the Executive were able to get forty-six passed by the municipal committee at the House, twenty-three becoming law.

TIMELY BATTLE

One of the outstanding changes made was the amendment whereby no person or corporation may undertake any construction over any public road in any municipality until written consent is received. Mr. Reid considered that this concession would not have been obtained had it been sought at any other time, and success was due to the fight that the executive was making against passage of the B.C.E.R. company private bill.

The executive had viewed the application of the electric railway company for a private bill with alarm, and had asked the government to delay the measure one year. While this move was unsuccessful the bill which passed the House was not that originally drawn up, but one that was amended at least five times to meet the objections of the Union.

Mr. Reid suggested the advisability of again seeking appointment of a public utilities commission.

SCHOOLS BURDEN

Surveying efforts to obtain a change in the method of taxation for school purposes, President Reid regretted lack of success, and doubted if any great change could be looked for along lines hitherto pursued by the union.

"I would not, however, for one moment suggest that we let up on our fight for relief of some kind. What I would suggest to the Union is that we ask for a larger amount from the consolidated revenue fund for school purposes, particularly the teachers' salaries," he said.

"It may be true that the Government's grants for education have increased, but the percentage now contributed by the Government has greatly decreased. In 1914 the Government contributed dollar for dollar to the municipalities for schools, to-day the grant is only about fifty cents for each dollar contributed by the municipalities. Education is more of a Provincial or Dominion obligation than it is municipal."

The amount received from liquor profits was stated by Mr. Reid to be helpful, but too uncertain. He preferred an exact amount, pointing out that the annual estimates of each municipality included a guess as to the liquor profit and a trust that the amount will be greater than the previous year.

TAX-FREE LANDS

The hardships imposed upon municipalities by inability to collect taxes on land held by the Soldiers' Settlement Board was strongly presented. Mr. Reid declared the situation to be growing more serious, arrears of taxes now amounting to thousands of dollars. He protested against recent action by the board in refusing payment of taxes on lands, sold on long terms to civilian settlers, on which they have taken a mortgage, even though the title remains in the name of that settler. "I think it is high time the union took a strong stand in this matter," he protested.

HOSPITALS PROSPER

Mr. Reid reviewed the operation of the Hospitals Act of 1925, and declared that the hospitals have had a surplus of over $130,000, but had made no move, as promised, to recommend a reduction in the compulsory payment of seventy cents per day per patient by the municipalities. "We find them in a belligerent mood. Mr. Haddon, the prpesident, urged the hospitals to take concerted action against any movement to reduce the amount of seventy cents per day per patient, and also against any increase of representation on the hospital board. Not only must we pay the seventy cents per day, but we must pay without representation," he protested.

Mr. Reid suggested that it might be well for the Union to consider whether the time had not come when all hospital treatments should be free.

PROF. MARSHALL TELLS OF MESSAGE HE FINDS IN BIBLE

Record Not Infallible, University Head Declares to Ontario Baptist Convention

Toronto, Oct. 18.—"The Bible as we have it to-day is not infallible," declared Professor L. H. Marshall, head of McMaster University, yesterday in stating his theological beliefs to the Baptist Convention of Quebec and Ontario, in session here.

The convention adopted the university report, thereby giving its approval and confidence in Professor Marshall.

The professor uttered the words in answer to criticism advanced by the group led by Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, which accused him of Modernism.

SPIRITUAL TRUTH INFALLIBLE

"The real spiritual truth that God communicates to us through the Bible is infallible, but that truth is not on the surface. The Bible as we have it to-day can not be called infallible," said Professor Marshall.

"No Baptist church in the world fastens upon itself the absolute accuracy of the Holy Scriptures, but the real message of God in the Bible is not infallible, but inerrenat.

"I can't subscribe to this infallibility of the Bible text as an honest man, and I won't," shouted Professor Marshall pounding the pulpit with his clenched hands.

STORY OF CREATION

Professor Marshall said he did not take the story of Creation in the Bible literally.

"What I do believe is the religious meaning of the text that God forms man out of the dust of the ground and gives him a living soul, but how he does it I don't know."

The same applied to his creation of women, he said.

Professor Marshall, continuing, declared there was room for tolerance in Biblical interpretations.

"My view of the theory of revelation is that in the process of Creation Man and God co-operated, but that in the whole process God predominated.

"I believe the Bible is mainly the word of God."

OLMSTED NOT PRESENT AS TRIAL STARTS IN SEATTLE

OLMSTED NOT THERE

Prophecies of Federal officials materialized when Roy Olmsted, colorful principal figure in the case, failed to appear for trial. His bail of $3,000 was ordered forfeited by Judge G. M. Bourquin, who is presiding in the case.

As recently as yesterday Mrs. Elsie Olmsted, the former police lientenant's wife, insisted her husband was in Seattle and would appear in court. Acquaintances of Olmsted admitted today that he probably was in British Columbia on the advice of advisers here that his absence might weaken the case against his co-defendants.

P. L. CRAIGNIC ABSENT

Prosper L. Craignic, speed boat operator, was another missing defendants. Court attaches said it was an open secret that Olmsted had gone to British Columbia on Craignic's boat.

Dave Trotsky, who is appealing from conviction in the first Olmsted case, surprised Federal officials by appearing for trial. It had been predicted he would not be present when the case was called.

"THE BLUECAR MYSTERY"

By NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

Author of "The Missing Initial," "The Thirteenth Letter," "The Unseen Ear," Etc.

OF all the thrilling and persuasive tales Natalie Sumner Lincoln has produced, "The Blue Car Mystery" is perhaps the most complex and puzzling in its motivation and incident, yet perfectly clear and consistent in its ultimate unraveling.

The story opens on a note of tragedy. The old Commodore, prominent in Washington social and political circles, is found dead in the library of his home, the proofs of the manuscript of his memoirs beside him. His death is surrounded by a web of circumstance which sooner or later enmeshes every member of the household.

Then there is the mystery of the blue car, the strange markings found upon it, and its eventual disappearance under highly puzzling circumstances.

In addition, there is the theft of $100,000 worth of bonds and the frequent appearance, in the most unlooked-for quarters, of a sinister hieroglyphic handwriting, which, it develops, is closely involved in a whole series of crimes.

BIBLE READING IN SCHOOLS DISCUSSED

B.C. School Trustees' Association Votes Down Resolution on Subject

Harrison Hot Springs, B.C., Oct. 18.—Resolutions and recommendations took form at the afternoon's session of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association, in recommending extensive Bible reading in the schools as of great historical and literary value was rejected by nine votes after a discussion that lasted an hour. The danger of the reading becoming teaching, and resulting in discord among different sects was the reason given by some of the opposing delegates.

Alex. Peden, Victoria, declared that while many passages were desirable, the possibility of a committee of ministers of different creeds selecting and agreeing to them was remote.

Chief Inspector A. C. Stewart, Victoria, ended the discussion by stating the School Act did not debar reading of passages from the Bible, and that several beautiful Psalms and parables already appeared in the text books.

TRAINING IN MUSIC

A resolution urging a longer course in music for Normal students was carried. Extension of the present department correspondence course now reaching the eighth grade, to the ninth garde and perhaps beyond, was recommended.

INSPECTION METHODS

A resolution urging more frequent inspection of schools, particularly in rural districts, and the relief of inspectors from extra duties, proposed by the Maple Ridge Board, was carried. A recommendation that women should not be debarred from becoming inspectors on the grounds, of traveling difficulties in the Province as has been the practice, aroused comment, but was defeated when J. S. Gordon, Vancouver, pointed out that women were not debarred by the Act.

Recommendation that the department rearrange its examination time tables so candidates would not be required to write two examinations in any half day was endorsed.

BRITAIN TRYING TO SELL EMPIRE GOODS AT HOME

Canadian Trade Commissioner From London Here Investigating Conditions

Here on a tour of Canada to familiarize himself with changing Canadian conditions, Harrison Watson, chief Canadian Government Trade Commissioner, in an interview this morning told how Britain was striving to sell Empire goods at home.

"Probably the most outstanding feature in the United Kingdom from our Canadian point of view is the campaign, both sentimental and practical, in favor of Empire products which is being conducted everywhere. The present movement is undoubtedly the result of the splendid displays of natural resources made at the Wembley Exhibition. The magnificent exhibit made by the Canadian Government was surpassed by none. The increased number of enquiries which have since flowed into the Trade Commissioner's office affords daily proof that it has spread on all sides a greater appreciation of our national wealth and resources," Mr. Watson said.

"There are now being held in every part of the United Kingdom, Empire Shopping Weeks, Empire Window Displays, Exhibitions, Bazaars, and similar opportunities for bringing products to the direct notice of the consumer, and particularly the housewife."

GRANT FOR PROPAGANDA

"It will be known that the British Government has given practical support to the movement by appropriating a large grant of money for purposes of propaganda and investigation. Moreover, to my own knowledge, the purchasing officials of many of the British Government Departments are giving Empire products preference over foreign goods, where quality is satisfactory and are even prepared, upon occasion, to pay higher prices. The same attitude is being observed by many municipal and public bodies," he went on.

"Up to the present, Canadian producers and shippers have, unfortunately, not taken full advantage of the opportunities created, although the question is now receiving greater attention.

"The Trade Commissioners and other Government officials are making every effort to promote Canadian interests. Such co-operation, and also the publicity campaign which the Minister of Trade and Commerce is organizing, cannot, however, achieve full success unless our producers, manufacturers and shippers, take steps, either individually or collectively, to participate and by making displays at these public and private exhibitions, familiarize the trade, and particularly the consumer, with the availability and fine qualities of Canadian products. Such action would meet the representations received from so many sources that persons who are most anxious to buy Canadian goods are at present unable to do so because they do not know what articles we can supply, and particularly the Canadian brands for which they should apply to their retailers.

BURDEN OF WAR

"Conditions in the United Kingdom are fairly satisfactory, taking into consideration the heavy burden which the country has still to shoulder as a legacy from the war. There is always a large volume of trade in a densely populated country. Upon the other hand, the situation in most of the staple industries is far from good, and the continued depression causes considerable anxiety," Mr. Watson continued.

"A principal cause is the falling off in export trade. Since the war, foreign countries generally have been increasing their tariffs on imports, and at the same time establishing their own industries. Britain has, as a result, lost many of the customers who formerly bought a large proportion of the output necessary to keep her factories fully employed.

"At the same time, many home manufacturers are unable to secure an alternative outlet in the United Kingdom itself, because the cost of production has risen to such an extent that it is found impossible to compete profitably against the prices at which manufacturers in foreign protected countries are able to sell certain of their products in the duty-free markets of Great Britain. The problem is admittedly a serious one, but steps are being taken to grapple with it."

VICTORIA SOLID

Business impressed Mr. Watson as being solid here. There was that aspect, he said. While its proportions were not great, at least its markets were definite. There was, he believe, a clear channel of big expansion in Pacific trade, and he is convinced, he says, that Victoria will participate in this to a great extent.

GOVERNMENT UPHELD IN MOST IMPORTANT TEST SINCE ELECTION OF 1924

"In the second place, Dr. Borden, the Conservative nominee, was a splendid candidate, a very popular man and a keen fighter, altogether a formidable opponent. I am well satisfied, therefore, with the result."

POLICIES SUPPORTED

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, who returned here with his leader, joined the Premier in expressing gratification.

It is evident that public opinion is in support of the policies of the Government," he said. "There is general public approbation of the efforts of the administration towards the economic development of our Province and the social welfare of our people. The Nelson election is a mandate to carry on the good work.

"The public has confidence in our new leader, Dr. MacLean. The Doctor has a host of friends in the Interior country, where he formerly lived, and they are solidly behind him."

CANDIDATE PLEASED

"This is the happiest moment of my life."

In these words Mayor McDonald, successful Liberal candidates, acknowledged his election when the results of the voting were announced at the Liberal committee rooms in Nelson.

"When you elected me as your alderman the first time, you gave me a majority of fifty-seven over any other candidate. I thank you for the confidence in me you have again shown seventeen years later. I particularly want to thank the working men, and assure them I will not forget them. I will be able to do more for Nelson than any Conservative member, and I will do it.

"Let me thank the ladies, who have stood by me royally on every occasion and particularly this."

Congratulating Mayor McDonald, Dr. Borden stated:

"Jim is a particular friend of mine. He and his family are my patients. The result of this election need in no way affect our friendship, and I have no doubt but you have chosen a good man."

MANSON GRATIFIED

Attorney-General A. M. Manson congratulated Dr. Borden on his splendid sportsmanship, "which shows after all what we have in British Columbia." He thanked the electors on behalf of the Government. He viewed the result as a victory in a constituency that was not really Liberal, but which "we are making Liberal by degrees."

LABOR SUPPORT

"We had 95 per cent of Nelson laboring men behind us," said Mr. Manson. "That is the reward for the statutes we have placed on the provincial books."

He urged Liberals to keep on the alert and to maintain their present organization really alive.

Douglas McPherson, M.P.P., of Grand Forks, appreciated the verdict on behalf of the Liberal party and on behalf of Grand Forks-Greenwood riding. He pledged his support to Nelson's new members in the House.

TOLMIE'S VIEWS

Dr. Tolmie said: "I think it is a very creditable showing we have made, reducing a majority of 338 to one of twenty-nine in a by-election. We had a very excellent candidate and worked hard, and our excellent organization of women and men put up a splendid show. I do not think there is any question about the result when the general election comes."

NELSON

IT WAS EXPECTED THAT THE VOTE in the Nelson byelection yesterday would be a close one. It was a vital test for the Government. If the seat had been lost, Hon. J. D. MacLean might have encountered considerable difficulty in the Legislature during the next session. Fortunately, the Government was victorious, thus adding another success to the striking victory which it recently won in New Westminster.

The size of the vote indicates the keen interest which the people of Nelson manifested in the contest. Never before in the history of the riding were so many ballots cast as there were yesterday. This speaks well for the organizers of both parties. The morning paper is elated over the reduction of the Government's majority and notes that Mayor McDonald polled forty-seven votes less than the late Premier Oliver polled in 1924, while the Opposition Party increased its total by 262. Two factors obviously have a bearing upon this new distribution of support. In the byelection of 1924 the contest was a three-cornered one and it is reasonable to assume that some Liberal and some Conservative votes on that occasion were given to the Labor candidate. It also should be remembered that the Liberal candidate then was the Premier of the Province. Yesterday's contest, however, more nearly reflects the political standing of the two parties that existed at the general elections of 1916 and 1920, in which Dr. Rose was returned in the Conservative interest. It nevertheless gives the Government the advantage.

As far as the Government's position and its popularity with the people of the Province are concerned, it has the satisfaction of knowing that within two months, under the leadership of Premier MacLean, it has won two byelections in two very important ridings. The New Westminster verdict was the most emphatic one ever rendered in that constituency.

We are told by the morning paper that promises gave the Liberals yesterday's verdict. It reported in its own columns a day or so ago that Dr. Tolmie promised the same public works which the Government had promised; but he went one better and said he would complete immediately the Hope-Princeton link of the southern section of the transprovincial highway.

In this regard The Colonist may have forgotten that when the agitation for this road was on in earnest in 1916 engineers reported against it, not only because of its cost, but also because it would be passable only for about four months of the year. It since has been ruled out as economically impracticable. But it is a popular topic in that part of the Province and Dr. Tolmie, probably quite unfamiliar with the history of the proposal, seized upon it and promised to do what engineering advice has opposed.

The standing of the various parties in the House now will be exactly the same as it was before the death of the former member for North Okanagan and, in view of the Nelson result, next session is not likely to be marked by anything of a contentious nature. This is to the advantage of the Province, as the Premier has declared that he intends to continue his policy of tax reduction and other policies looking to the welfare of the people.

MAYOR THOMPSON'S DAY TO-MORROW

IN THE CITY OF CHICAGO TO-MORROW the trial of Superintendent of Schools William McAndrew will commence. Mayor Thompson hopes to show, by the assistance of a distinguished array of counsel and experts, that Mr. McAndrew is pro-British in his sympathies and that under his regime the pupils of Chicago's schools have been induced to forget some of the outstanding features of American history and to think more along lines that would indicate a friendly feeling towards Great Britain. It also is part of the Mayor's intention to expose what he declares is "gigantic" British propaganda in the United States on which millions of dollars have been spent. Expert witnesses are to be called from various parts of the republic and a dispatch from Chicago yesterday promised sensations of a national and international character.

It is none of Canada's business what either Mr. McAndrew or Mayor Thompson does. His Worship of the "windy city" had to go through with his investigation of the Superintendent of Schools. He told the electorate in the recent mayoralty campaign that if he was elected Mr. McAndrew would have to go, and he has kept his word that far. To-morrow's proceedings are intended to show that what he said on the hustings before his election was true. But the people of the United States know Mayor Thompson. This stage-play is very clear to them. They will not be disturbed in the least if facts shall be brought out to show that there is a better feeling growing between the two branches of the English-speaking race. Certainly the majority will see no great menace in the gradual disappearance of suspicion and distrust between the British Empire and the United States.

THE CASE OF MR. BOWSER

MR. BOWSER AT KAMLOOPS RENOUNCED all aspirations to the leadership of the Conservative Party of British Columbia. As far as we can see, he has neither done nor said anything since that time that could fairly expose him to a charge of insincerity or inconsistency in his attitude on this subject. His many friends, however, do not think that his withdrawal from the race for leadership should involve his retirement from public life. They feel that their party should have the benefit of his long experience, ability, knowledge, energy and fighting qualities. He was nearly thirty years in the public eye. He was an important member of the Cabinet of Sir Richard McBride, later becoming Premier at a time when the fortunes of the party were at a low ebb. From 1917 to 1924 he was a vigorous leader of the Opposition. He is still in the full possession of his mental and physical powers, and his friends quite naturally want to see them utilized actively in the interests of their party. This, we believe, sums up their attitude, and it is difficult for outsiders to understand why there should be any opposition to it. In maintaining it they are quite within their rights, just as Mr. Bowser would be quite within his right in seeking to return to public life if he so desired.

The trouble in the Conservative Party's ranks appears to have arisen from the determination of certain elements to keep Mr. Bowser not only out of the leadership but out of public life altogether. This determination in some was prompted by the defeat of the party under Mr. Bowser's leadership in 1924, although nobody else could have done any better, and we doubt if anybody else could have done as well. Apparently these elements had no appreciation of the services their leader had rendered to the party, no sense of gratitude for the time and energy he had expended, the sacrifice of health he had made, both in office and opposition. They callously left him wounded on the battlefield, and if they had any mental reaction regarding his fate it was to hope that he was a political corpse beyond all prospect of resurrection. On the other hand, when the Liberal leader was unhorsed his party found a new steed, and his followers stood by him to the end of his busy life. If Mr. Bowser had led his party to victory in 1924 there would have been no question of his retirement because, even though defeated personally, he would have been the master of the situation long enough to provide for his re-election to the Legislature.

Another consideration which prompted opposition within the Conservative Party to Mr. Bowser's return to public life was the vaulting ambition of certain of his former followers. Some of them wanted the leadership, while others more modestly aspired to places in the councils of the party which they knew would not be given to them if Mr. Bowser were in command. We know this because time has shown that these elements sadly lacked the qualifications for either the leadership or ranking positions in the party. If the Conservative Party under Mr. Bowser were to return to office to-morrow, we question if he would be able to organize a government from among the present opposition in the House, and we question if he would try to do so.

Some of our Conservative friends are emphasizing the necesity of house-cleaning in the party establishment. Unfortunately for party harmony house-cleaning is regarded by some as sweeping Mr. Bowser and his friends into the political garbage can. This can not be done. It would be presumptuous on our part to offer advice, but if conditions were reversed as between the two parties, we certainly would demand that the Liberals welcome back to public life any or every prominent member who had the experience and ability of Mr. Bowser.

SULTAN HASSAN'S MOSQUE, at Cairo, Egypt, is the finest existing monument of Egypt-Arabian architecture. The magnificent edifice recalls the broad surfaces of the early Egyptian temples. It was built in the 14th Century by a Syrian architect who was brought into the country for the purpose.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER

Q.—Who was Sir Charles Tupper?

A.—Sir Charles Tupper was not only one of the Fathers of Confederation and an early advocate of it in Nova Scotia before 1867, but he was for a time Conservative Premier of the Dominion. He entered public life in 1855 and the writer says of him that "A half century of public life gave scope to his tireless energy, and bore fruit in defeating the Confederation repeal movement in Nova Scotia, in promoting the National Policy in his own party, and in fostering the fortunes of the Canadian Pacific Railway through its darkest days."

THE 9.30 GUN

To the Editor:—Allow me to dispute the statement of "Pro Bono Publico" in your Friday issue. I consulted my watch and found that the 9.30 gun was fired at 9.30 p.m.

"COPERNICUS."

THE 9.30 GUN

To the Editor:—Please spare me a little of your valuable space. In your Saturday's night's issue "Pro Bono Publico" was complaining that the 9.30 gun at Work Point Barracks was six minutes ahead of time one evening last week. He also made what I should call some disparaging remarks on the army in general. I would like to tell this person that both the morning and evening guns are regulated from Gonzales. For a minute or so before the time the gunner is connected by 'phone to Gonzales. A second or so before firing time Mr. Denison will say "Ready" and then "Now," at which time the gun is fired. How on earth in a case like this can the gun possibly be incorrect? I should like to ask this person if he took the trouble to 'phone Mr. Denison and find out if his watch was correct or not?

THE 9.30 GUN

To the Editor:—Replying to your correspondent "Pro Bono Publico" regarding the inaccuracy of the 9.30 p.m. gun on the 12th inst., I may say the signal for firing this gun is always given over the telephone from here to the officer at the Work Point Barracks who upon receipt of it electrically transmits this signal to the gunner.

This time is given direct from a carefully rated chronometer which enables its accuracy to be kept to one half a second. This noon and 9.30 p.m. gun service has been carried on for some years here by the military authorities at Work Point Barracks, and the writer here, for the benefit of Victoria and its vicinity, and with the exception of a few line interruptions and "misfires," the results have been reliable and appreciated by many.

To obtain the true time from a gun, one must bear in mind that as sound travels 1,100 feet a second, an allowance for distance from the gun must be made; for instance, it takes eighteen seconds for the gun report to reach Gonzales Heights, which is nearly four miles away, while the same report was heard almost instantly on the 'phone here when the signal to fire was given to Work Point Barracks.

GOOD READING VALUABLE AID

Reading Nearly a Lost Art Dr. Davis Tells Knights of Round Table

Reading as a lost art was discussed by Dr. Clem Davies in an instructive address before Ye Knights of the Round Table at a dinner meeting last night.

"Spiritual wealth is composed of great ideas mentally absorbed," stated Dr. Davies, who summarized the results of reading and study so often neglected in the quickened tempo of life to-day.

The speed of modern life had brought about conditions that were not conducive to reading, continued the speaker. Automobiles, radios, motion pictures, and other amusements detracted from the quiet hours at home, where reading for instruction and entertainment could best be carried on.

The best society was reached through books, said the speaker, as literature was the most convenient form of expressing thought. A certain majesty of thought attached itself to good books, and in turn induced trains of thought in their readers.

"The trouble to-day is that we hate our own society," continued Dr. Davies, "and we can test ourselves by the degree to which we hate solitude."

The power to think was the highest gift of God, he continued. In judging books the highest test was that of quality. A good book was indestructible, he said, instancing attempts to destroy the Bible.

Dr. Davies advised business men to spend part of their leisure hours in reading books. Recreation was to be found in reading often when one felt most fatigued, as it led to the banishing of other thoughts and possible worries.

Old fashioned books were still the best. No book should be read until it was at least a year old, for the unstable works dropped into the discard to a natural death. Men should read the books that most interested them, and should read more of one subject than others, so that they could specialize in that.

Langford

Langford, Oct. 18.—The harvest festival service held in St. Matthew's Church on Friday evening was well attended. The Rev. H. B. Allen, vicar, took the service and Dean Quainton preached a most interesting sermon. Mrs. A. Norman Brown sang as a vocal solo, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," which was much enjoyed. The church was tastefully decorated with quantities of foliage, flowers, fruit and vegetables by Mrs. J. Stuart Yates, Mrs. J. W. Jolley, Mrs. H. A. Hincks, Miss Jane Soutter. The vegetables and fruit were donated by parishioners and will be sold in aid of the guild funds. On Sunday the harvest festival services were continued. A service of holy communion was held at 8 a.m., children's service at 3 p.m. and evening at 7 o'clock. Miss James of Colwood was the organist in the afternoon and there was a splendid attendance of children. The vicar announced that commencing on Sunday, October 30, every Sunday at 10 a.m., a class would be held in the church for church teaching to which all children are invited. At the evening service William Ellis (Victoria) rendered a sacred solo entitled "Thanksgiving." Mrs. Horace Simpson presided at the organ and the vicar, Rev. H. B. Allen, took the service and preached an eloquent sermon to an excellent congregation.

A card party will be held in the Institute Hall on Dunford Road on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Both progressive bridge and five hundred will be played for which prizes will be awarded, and all visitors welcomed. A punctual attendance is requested. This card party is under the auspices of the Langford Women's Institute.

It was decided to hold the children's dancing and exercise class weekly on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Langford Lakeside.

Mrs. Arthur Knappett with her two small sons came over from Portland, Oregon, to surprise and welcome her mother, Mrs. Arthur Cooper, on her return home from England.

A. C. Stewart, the public school inspector, visited both rooms of the Langford School this week on his official inspection.

Mrs. Arthur Cooper returned to her home on the Millstream Road Sunday, having sailed on the Ss. Doric from England, where she has been visiting relatives in the north for the past five months. Mr. A. Cooper made the trip over to Vancouver to meet his wife.

Brantford, Ont., Oct. 18.—Addressing a large gathering at a Brantford Board of Trade meeting last night, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, declared exportation of liquor to the United States to be perfectly legal and that he had no power to refuse clearance to any vessel carrying liquor to the United States. He also criticized the judiciary, stating some judges were prone to show too much leniency.

TOURIST INFLUX SHOWS INCREASE

362,000 Visitors Arrived Here From May to Sept. and Spent Sum of $7,240,000

Victoria, during the period from May to September, was visited by 362,000 tourists, an increase of 17,000 over last year, according to figures released by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

The 1927 figures represent a record year, the best former mark being in 1925 when 350,000 visitors came to the city.

Tourists visiting here this year spent the sum of $7,240,000, or an average of $20 each.

During the season 18,324 automobiles came to Victoria by coast and ferry steamers as against 14,288 in 1926.

The sum of $7,240,000 spent by the tourists was absorbed in mostly by the hotel keepers, restaurants, boarding houses, garages, sightseeing companies, and taxi stands.

The average stay of tourists here has increased nearly 100 per cent, according to hotel men, while eighty per cent of the persons writing of their intention to become residents of this city have been attracted by friends who have been here before, according to the bureau.

DRAGGING-DOWN PAINS RELIEVED

Woman Suffered Nearly a Year. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Her Health

Moose Jaw, Sask.—"I am going to try to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very badly with dragging-down pains and inflammation, also pains in my right side over my hip and down my whole side into my leg. I had it nearly a year when I went to a doctor and he said I would have to have an operation. But my mother said to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it saved her life years before. I took two bottles and I found I was better, so I kept on taking it and also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I have had two more children since then and am perfectly well. I used to have to lie down two or three times a day, and now I do all my housework without trouble. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house as I find a dose now and then helps me. I am willing for you to use this letter any way you see fit and I will answer letters. If I can help any other woman I'd be only too glad to try."—Mrs. ESTHER HOUGHTON, 414 Morse Square, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all women.

It was decided by the members that they would furnish the assembly room in memory of Mrs. J. L. Beckwith, who for a number of years was a faithful member of the board.

It was with deep regret that the resignation of Mrs. J. H. Fletcher and Mrs. F. V. Longstaff was received by the board.

Accommodation was provided for 117 transients in the residence and thirty-eight in the annex making a total of 155. In the dining-room 2,495 meals were served. The committee reported that they were able to secure the services of a competent woman cook whose duties would begin at once.

The girl's work committee reported that classes in china painting, basketry, dressmaking, physical culture, swimming and home nursing had been organized. Competent teachers having been obtained to conduct the classes.

WOMAN DESCRIBES CAMEL TRIP ACROSS ABORIGINE LAND

Miss Philippa Bridges, F.R.G.S., Tells Story of Travel in Australia

"A Walk-about in Australia," was the colloquial title of the very interesting lecture given at the Empress Hotel last evening by Miss Philippa Bridges, F.R.G.S., the speaker explaining that "walk-about" was an Australian term for a journey such as she took through the heart of Central Australia.

Her trip, made several years ago, was from Adelaide on the southern coast to Port Darwin in the north, her route following the telegraph line. In this connection Miss Bridges related how when she was starting out on her long and perilous journey she was advised, should she ever meet with any trouble, to damage the telegraph line, as linesmen would be immediately dispatched to repair it. But the occasion, happily, never arose for her to need succor, so she was enabled to refrain from breaking the law, damage to the line being punishable by imprisonment.

PRIMITIVE ABORIGINES

Miss Bridges described the preparations for her long journey, in which she was accompanied only by two aborigine servants, Matumba, and his black wife, whom she called Topsy, and four camels. A total of 650 miles was made by camel, another 600 miles by the Australian buggy mail, and 400 miles by wagon with a team of horses, the remainder being by rail.

She chose the camel method of transport to enable her to see more of the country and to make a close acquaintance with the aborigines of Central Australia. These natives are among the most primitive peoples of the earth, according to Miss Bridges. They can only count up to five, the number of fingers on a hand, and have no idea of religion, handicrafts, agriculture, or any pursuits except hunting. In many places they revert, on occasion, to cannibalism. The speaker illustrated her address with many fine slides, one showing an aboriginal princess who was an absolute despot with her people yet whose sole palace was a pile of brushwood.

"MANTLE OF ELIJAH"

Describing her two native servants, Miss Bridges said they proved most faithful and obedient. One curious trait of the aborigines, expressed in her servant Matumba, was the habit of exchanging clothes with any friends they happened to meet on the way, so that he had a disconcerting habit of appearing one day in a fairly decent suit and in the next in a disreputable garment. Miss Bridges attributed the habit to a belief in the theory of the "mantle of Elijah," that in thus donning another's clothes one donned also some of his virtues and gifts.

She gave interesting descriptions of the "never, never, land," and the poison belt through which she passed, and touched lightly upon the vicissitudes of her journey in which she encountered tropical heat in a tree-less country, and a bush fire near the Equator. But there were no wild animals to terrify one, kangaroos and a herd of about two hundred wild donkeys, who rent the air with their braying, being practically the only wild animals encountered.

GRASS SIXTEEN FEET HIGH

Speaking of the settlement of Central Australia, Miss Bridges stated that two white men and a well make a township, while places with five or six white inhabitants proudly call themselves a city. One interesting picture depicted the dwelling house of a white engineer and his wife at a remote spot, the house being built on piles to escape the ravages of the white ant. She showed the same house as it appeared after one of the tropical rains, when the grass had grown to sixteen feet in height in a few days. The grass grew to such a height that the cattle were unable to reach it.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Local Council of Women. Miss Crease presided and at the close Lindley Crease, K.C., moved the vote of thanks to the speaker, which was seconded by Mrs. H. W. Graves.

Pollock was warmly applauded for his interpretation of the role of Hilary Fairfield, the central character, and the description of the play with which he prefaced the reading enhanced the interest and pleasure of the occasion. In introducing the speaker Mr. L. Bullock-Webster said that ten of Allan Pollock's thirty years' stage experience have been spent on Broadway, and at the outbreak of war in 1914, he had just embarked on a five-year contract, which he turned aside, enlisting in the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders, with which regiment he won his captaincy, and was severely wounded during the battle of the Somme.

By kind permission of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie, Commissioners and Guiders of the Girl Guides were entertained at Government House yesterday afternoon, the occasion being a presentation to the Provincial Commissioner, Miss E. YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

CHILDREN NEED A GOOD MODEL TO IMITATE

"Come baby; lie down like a little lamb, and go to sleep!" And baby with that idea in mind, obediently imitates the little lamb and lies quietly, wooing sleep.

Children stalk about rigidly, in imitation of a straight-spined father and beholders say admiringly: "Isn't he just like his father." Enough of this admiration and the boy becomes a small pattern of his Dad.

All through life we are unconsciously holding a pattern before us and trying to be like it. Only think of the young ladies who ate delicately and fainted easily in imitation of their Laura Jean Libby aristocratic heroines. For heroes may be fiction or real; so long as they capture our imaginatin and make us long to be like them.

Mother unconsciously provides the model when she tells the child to be like a lamb. She just as unconsciously and far more effectively furnishes him with a less exemplary pattern when she shrieks at him for misbehaving; gossips about her neighbors or quarrels with his father. She has only herself to blame, if he follows these patterns instead of the ones she tells him to imitate. It never pays to say one thing and then do something else.

Children are rabid hero-worshippers. Sometimes their heroes are the ones we would least like to have them imitate. Perhaps timid Laddy is awed into profound admiration of the bad, bold boy who rules the gang on his street and whose escapades are the subject of much horrified neighborhood gossip. Son doesn't think of him as bad. He admires and envies the attention he receives and he is emboldened to go out and get some like it.

What a lot of good we would do if we would just ignore the escapades and throw the lime-light unobstrusively on good behavior. Most children instinctively dislike "goody" children. But good children have characteristics: bravery, modesty, good-sportsmanship, that all children want to emulate.

Conduct which is outstanding is always easier to imitate than conduct which is restrained. It is easier to imitate the loud and swaggering person than the quiet and modest one. But one has to be on guard constantly so that the more obvious models do not blot out the more desirable noes.

Why Women Wanted And Science Developed A New-Type Hygiene

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

MODERN women with the business world to face, and a more tense social life to lead, demanded greater protection in meeting their greatest hygienic handicap. As a result, the old-time sanitary "pad" is fast disappearing.

Over 80% of better-class women now employ KOTEX—more than a sanitary pad; true scientific protection. Filled with Cellucotton wadding, the newly perfected super-absorbent, it is five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Kotex also DEODORIZES while it acts. Also, it is discarded easily as tissue. No laundry, no disposal problem.

Packed 12 in a box. At any store. Look for name Kotex on the box. If it is not there, take care; it is not real Kotex.

THREE MISSING IN WILDS OF YUKON

Dog Owned by Dr. L. C. Lachappelle Found; Another Man and Woman Lost

Dawson, Y.T., Oct. 18. — A small brown water spaniel owned by Dr. J. C. Lachappelle of Dawson, who with two others has been missing since October 5, was found yesterday at Henderson's Slough, two miles below Stewart, by Richard Gooding, Government telegraph operator at Stewart City. The dog was in a starved condition.

Dr. Lachappelle, Mrs. Bessie Ray of Keno City and John Timson, a wood chopper, left Stewart in a canoe October 5 and have not since been seen. Finding of the dog is regarded as strong evidence the three were drowned.

No report has been received from police who left here by the overland route for Stewart last Friday morning. Efforts to look for the party by motor launch were unsuccessful on account of ice in the river.

Picton, Ont., Oct. 18.—A. A. Morden of Wellington has been chosen Liberal candidate in the Prince Edward Island constituency, where a provincial by-election was necessitated by the appointment of Hon. W. E. Raney to the Supreme Court Bench of Ontario, November 12 will be election day.

When Food Disagrees

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For Fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

ARCH MASONS PAY TRIBUTE TO PIONEER

Late Dr. I. W. Powell Was Eulogized in Letter to Widow

Warm tribute to the memory of the late Dr. I. W. Powell and his pioneer work in connection with Freemasonry in this province was paid in the following self-explanatory letter sent to his widow, Mrs. Powell, recently:

"901 Richmond Avenue, Victoria, B.C., "October 8, 1927.

"Dear Mrs. Powell:—At a meeting of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of British Columbia, held last Wednesday, the 5th instant, to celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of the formation of the first (Columbia) Chapter in this Province, many most eulogistic allusions were made to the splendid work of your late husband, Dr. Powell, not only in the part he took in obtaining a charter from the Grand Chapter of Scotland for Columbia Chapter, of which he was the first First Principal L., but also in being the principal actor in the formation of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia.

"The Earl of Cassillis, Grand First Principal Z. of the Supreme Grand Chapter of Scotland, was naturally very much interested in the great superstructure that has been raised on the small but firm foundation laid sixty years ago by Dr. Powell, and has requested me to convey to you the high respect he has for his memory and admiration for his splendid work for Freemasonry, which he considered almost unique in the history of the Craft.

"His Lordship also wished me to express to you his deep regret that the arrangements that had been made for him during his brief stay in Victoria would prevent the possibility of his waiting on you in person, but he had heard of your great interest in Freemasonry and the support and encouragement you had always given to your distinguished husband, which he was sure would always be a sweet memory to you. He therefore desired me to tender to you his best wishes for the improvement of your health, and for every blessing during the rest of your days.

"Yours most sincerely,
(Signed) "EDWARD B. PAUL,
"Past Grand Z."

FAVORITE OF CARUSO TO SING IN CITY

Nina Morgana Was His Protegee and Wed His Secretary

Nina Morgana, soprana, who will appear here on November 29 at the Royal Victoria Theatre, was born in Buffalo. In 1908 she sang for Caruso, who advised her to go to Milan. She then left for study in Italy and remained there for four years under the tutelage of the famous Teresa Arkel. She made her debut in Alessandria, Italy, and as a result was engaged at the La Scala Opera House.

Since then she has sung in joint recital with Amato, Elman and Martinelli, and the following season toured with Caruso.

In speaking of Caruso Miss Morgana says, "I miss Caruso now, not only personally but as an artist, more than I have ever done before." I appreciate more and more each day what the world has lost by his death. He was a wonderful man, a great artist who belonged to no single nation, but to every country. And if he were alive to-day he would be the first person to plead for music as a bond of international sympathy and understanding."

Nina Morgana is married to Bruno Zirato, who was for a long time Caruso's secretary, and so Caruso sponsored her romance. She was a great favorite of Caruso's and when he heard her sing as a child he wrote her a note, which is now pasted in her scrap book, stating that "if she would study a few years she would rank with the greatest of great sopranos!"

How well this prophesy has been filled can be seen. When touring with Caruso in 1919 she sang to nearly 100,000 persons, sharing eulogies with the great tenor in every city. In Tacoma, Miss Morgana sang to an audience of football proportions, estimated at 40,000. Miss Morgana has toured as soloist with the New York Symhony Orchestra, and has sung leading roles with the La Scala Opera Company, the Chicago Opera Company and the Metropolitan Opera Company. She joined Gatti-Casazza's forces in 1920, making her debut as Gilda in "Rigoletto." To-day she has won a position as one of the most gifted and popular of the younger singers at the Metropolitan.

The New York Evening Journal in speaking of Miss Morgana says: She is a truly exceptional singer. She has what may be described as the accepted operatic voice, clear, brilliant and penetrating, and reaching or carrying in quality. It is remarkable for range and evenness, and has been thoroughly schooled. Technically it is practically flawless, and she uses it with ease and assurance.

Appeal Growing Out of Fire is Heard

Vancouver, Oct. 18.Liability for a fire which destroyed considerable timber and logging equipment near Hosmer, in the Kootenay district, is an issue before the British Columbia Court of Appeal in the appeal of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited from a judgment of Mr. Justice Morrison in favor of William Murdoch and William Pigeon, lumbermen.

Concluding the trial at the Fernie Assizes in June, the judge found the company was liable for damage which ensued from a fire on June 8, 1926. The damages have not yet been ascertained.

For destroyed pit props, damage to roads and loss of profits the plaintiffs claimed $6,488, and Murdoch, in addition, sought $13,620 damages for poles, posts and standing timber.

A. H. MacNeill, K.C., is counsel for the appellant company, which contends two men, who allegedly started the fire, were not at the time in their employ.

J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., and A. I. Fisher, K.C., are counsel for the respondents.

BUDGET PLAN MAKES TRAVELING SIMPLE

Possible to Buy Ticket to Europe For Four Dollars a Week; Novel Financing

One of the largest and most conservative steamship companies in the world, is practicing a plan which is tending to completely revolutionize travel. One may now buy adventure, in the form of a ticket to far-off places, in such a gradual way, that pocketbooks, whatever their capacity, will never know the difference. One may go to Paris and London and back for the small amount of $200. On the budget plan to Europe this entails the setting aside of some $4 for a period of forty-nine weeks.

There are a wonderful variety of tours which the prospective traveler may dream about, and should he want to save as much as $10 a week for forty-nine weeks, he will be on his way to several European countries almost before he knows it. As for the minimum weekly, $4 is something which any clever housewife, any energetic college student, can accomplish with very little effort.

This novel way of financing one's travel has other features which make it the chief of all its tribe. The gilt is not off the ginger bread when the payments are completed. Less than a year is spent in the pleasure of looking forward to it, but its actual realization comes as a paid-up, untouched piece of collateral, with the fun still to come. The prospective owner of a trip certificate to Europe pays no interest on his buy. Reputable steamship agencies are representing this travel budget plan so that the traveler is protected in every possible way. His savings are completely under his control, being deposited at a local bank, and nearly all banks are now co-operating with the steamship agencies on this plan.

The travel budget plan is also going to alter the face of Christmas. With an initial payment of $5 a member, ship certificate is issued to the privileged holders. It certifies clearly that members, by depositing a small weekly sum for forty-eight weeks, will, at the end of that time, walk up the gangplank of a large eastbound liner, as passengers.

Leaps in Water Fully Clothed to Prevent Drowning

Vancouver, Oct. 18.—Leaping into the water after Walter Bailey who, police declare, jumped from North Vancouver ferry wharf at the foot of Columbia Street, H. Chisholm, 236 Smythe Street, effected a spectacular rescue at 11.30 o'clock last night.

In full view of persons who were waiting for the ferry, Bailey is said by police to have jumped into the water. Chisholm, standing nearby, leaped into the water after him, fully clothed. Police declare Chisholm's rescue was made at the risk of his own life as he was forced to go under the piles to seize the drowning man and also ran the risk of being rundown by an incoming ferry.

Chisholm was finally successful in bringing out Bailey who was taken in charge by Sergeant Charles Yorke of the city police, who ordered the man removed to General Hospital. Bailey suffered severely from cold and exposure.

BRITISH LOCOMOTIVE SHOWS SPEED IN U.S.

"King George V." in Test Run Sets Speed of 76 Miles Per Hour

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 18.—The swiftest and most powerful locomotive in Europe, the King George V of England's Great Western Railway, completed a 290-mile test run over Baltimore and Ohio tracks yesterday and startled officials of that road by hitting a seventy-six miles an hour speed with its throttle only 75 per cent open.

Spectators along the route from Baltimore to Washington and thence to Philadelphia and back to Baltimore, gazed in wonder as the lithe whippet of the rails, resplendent in dark green paint and shining brass, swept by with seven coaches. With no pipes and few working parts exposed, the streamlined English engine appeared very different from the American type.

Until Sunday the engine had been on exhibition at the Baltimore and Ohio's exhibition here.

CHARGES ERROR IN RATE COMPUTATION

Alberta Government Claims Railway Board Fixed Coal Rate 47 Cents Too High

Chief Commissioner of Rail Board Claims no Mistake Was Made

Edmonton, Oct. 18.—Through an error in computing costs of transporting Alberta coal to the Ontario market, the Railway Board of Canada has made a rate of 47 cents higher than the facts of the case call for.

This is the claim of the Alberta Government, and will be put forward by both Alberta and Ontario, according to Premier Brownlee in a statement to The Journal on Sunday.

"Briefly, the error, the statement says, "comes through figuring an average load for a car at from 2.8 to four tons lower than figures from both the C.N.R. and C.P.R. show, and means that Alberta is entitled to a rate of at least $6.75 per ton instead of the board's finding of $7.22 per ton.

"In its judgment the Railway Board understood to accept as its basis of available loading the figures resultant from test shipments of coal from Alberta to Ontario.

"The joker lies in the fact that these test shipments were made in trains composed of nothing but minimum capacity cars. There was a very good reason for this. The coal was sold in carload lots. So great was the demand for trial shipments that Alberta officials and operators arranged that the smallest cars should be used, so that as many cars as possible would travel east in each train. The movement was a strictly limited one, and the idea was to get Alberta coal into as many different points as possible."

CLAIMS NO ERROR

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—There was no error of miscalculation in the computing of the coal cost movement from Alberta to Ontario, Chief Commissioner H. A. McKeown, of the Railway Commission, said to-day when a statement by Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta was drawn to his attention. Premier Brownlee claimed the board had made the rate 47 cents a ton too high. Commissioner McKeown points out that the report of the commission is quite clear. The different carloads were put forward as units during the case, one by Mr. Oliver, traffic expert for the Provincial Government, and one by Mr. Mallory of the National Railways.

The commission in its report drew attention to this in the following terms:

In estimating the movement Mr. Oliver takes a load of thirty-six tons. Mr. Mallory takes a load of 33.4 tons. This average of 33.4 tons is worked out on the special movement of coal which actaully took place in 1925-26. The use of 33.4 tons as a division instead of thirty-six tons, makes a difference of about 8 per cent. The thirty-ton box car has an axle load gross capacity of 51½ tons, the average of the thirty-ton box cars being 17.5 tons. This leaves a maximum load of thirty-four tons for the so-called thirty-ton box car. Pending development of traffic, the only safe measure of what will move per car is what has already moved in the special case referred to.

Regulation on U.S. Vessels Is Now in Effect

United States fishing vessels entering Canadian waters for any other purpose than those provided by treaty are now liable to seizure by the customs, according to instructions received by the local department, it was announced by F. W. Davey, collector of National Revenue, this morning.

The treaty provides for foreign vessels putting into Canadian waters for the purpose of shelter from the weather, repairs, wood or water. For purposes other than these the vessels will be prohibited from entering Canadian waters and under instructions which go into effect immediately will be liable to seizure.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean; by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In twenty-four hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. (Advt.)

The Achilles is one day behind schedule, having left Yokohama a day late.

The outbound Blue Funnel vessel Talthybius is also later than usual, and will arrive from Vancouver about 4 o'clock this afternoon. She will pick up passengers and mail here before clearing for sea.

On her outward trip, the Talthybius will take 5,500 tons of cargo loaded at Vancouver and Seattle and 300 passengers.

B.C. GIVEN CLEAR VICTORY IN RATES

Freight Traffic Manager of C.N.R. Declares Coast Will Have no Competition

Vancouver, Oct. 18—British Columbia's victory in the freight rate fight is pratically 100 per cent, Frank Watson, general freight traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways, declared in an interview last night.

Mr. Watson pointed out that the recent order of the Railway Board, establishing a low 18.34 cent rate on grain from Fort William to Quebec, offered practically no competition to Vancouver.

The rate of 18.34 cents per hundred pounds which became effective September 12, under the Board's new order, prevails from Port Arthur, Fort William and Armstrong to Quebec only, he said.

The Montreal rate remains at 34.5 cents, and the rate to Halifax and St. John, which were put on a parity a year ago, remains at 35.5 cents, he pointed out.

The impression that all eastern ports obtained the benefit of the 18.34 cent rate into Quebec, probably arose, Mr. Watson said, from the fact that Quebec was put on a parity with Montreal in respect of general merchandise rates on commodities for export originating in territory west of Toronto, to the Detroit frontier. Rates from that territory on general commodities had previously been two cents per 100 pounds greater to Quebec than to Montreal.

But the order putting Quebec and Montreal on a parity did not apply to grain from Western Canada, Mr. Watson explained.

The result is that Quebec, being a closed port in the Winter time, is not brought into any more direct competition with Vancouver than she was before the 18.34 cent rate went into effect.

LUMBER FIRMS FORM $12,000,000 MERGER

Portland, Ore., Oct. 18.—A merger has been formed of the Clark & Wilson Lumber Company, the Beaver Lumber Company, the Nehalem Timber and Logging Company and the Portland and Southwestern Railway Company, it was announced to-day by officials of these companies. The new merger will be operated by the Clark & Wilson Lumber Company, whose capital stock will be $12,000,000.

Whiffen Spit in Danger of Being Wrecked by Tides

Whiffen Spit, the natural breakwater of Sooke Harbor is in danger of being washed away and unless protective measure are taken will disappear, according to a Sooke correspondent.

During the extreme high tides of last Winter a break was formed in the narrowset part of the spit and this break is being widened at every recurrence of high tides, it is claimed. The width of the opening has now reached 400 feet and the heavy seas are being felt in the harbor.

Great concern is felt in the Sooke district over this matter as the disapperance of the spit would have a disastrous effect upon the fishing industry with its headquarters in the harbor. It would likewise affect the harbor as a refuge for shipping, it is claimed.

MARINE NOTES

The conference of railway ticket agents held in Washington, D.C., recently will next year be held in Seattle, it has been learned here. This, it is expected, will be a great boost to tourist traffic on the coast.

King Bros., local shipping agents, report the freighter Ethelwolf due tomorrow morning to load 800,000 feet of lumber for the Orient. After loading here she will proceed to the mainland to complete her cargo.

Ss. Famous, operated by the Frank Waterhouse Company, will be hauled out at the Victoria Machinery Depot to-morrow morning for a general overhaul. She was to have been verhauled earlier this year but it was postponed until a lull in the pilchard trade up the coast.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

St. John's Business Girls Visit Chinese Missionary's Home

Mrs. F. A. P. Chadwick, president of the Buisness Girls' evening branch of the St. John's W.A., presided at a most interesting meeting of that organization held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lee, local Chinese residents, on Monday evening.

It is the intention of Mr. Lee to take up a course of study at the Anglican Theological College, and the nature of this meeting of the W.A. was a bid him Godspeed in his work.

A splendid address, full of missionary information and inspiration, was given by Rev. Buoy Ding Li, of the Good Hope Anglican Mission on Johnson Street.

Mrs. Chadwick expressed the thanks of the branch for the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lee, and prayers were offered for Divine blessing on the ministry of Mr. Lee, who will return after his theological course to his own country as a missionary.

There was a large attendance of the members, and all enjoyed the privilege of receiving so much missionary information in such an interesting way, and taking part in such an inspiring meeting.

The menu included seven separate chicken courses.

As there is some misunderstanding in regard to the dates of the dances for the C.P.R. Club, the committee desires to advise members and patrons that the next dance will be on October 27, on Thursday as usual. The first dance in November will be held on Monday, November 7, Thanksgiving Day, instead of November 10, on account of the Empress Ballroom being otherwise engaged. On and from November 24, dances fortnightly as usual.

The Royal Society of St. George will hold a musical and social evening, followed by a dance, in the Conservative Club Rooms, Campbell Building, at 8 o'clock to-night. Several local artists will assist with the programme and refreshments will be served. This will be the regular monthly meeting.

The automobile which disappeared on Wednesday night last, the property of Mrs. Harry Bullen, believed to have been stolen and sought for days by police in the city without avail, was finally discovered by the B.C. Provincial Police near Koksilah yesterday.

The usual card party was held in Lake Hill Community Hall under the auspices of the Women's Institute Monday evening. There were thirteen tables in play, and prizes were won by the following: First table, Mrs. Carlow, Mrs. Knowlton, Mr. Saunders, Mr. Williams; second, Mrs. Miles, Mrs. Brockington, D. A lantern lecture on Esquimalt, from the days of its early history as a naval base, will be given by Major F. V. Longstaff at the Memorial Hall on Tuesday, October 25, at 8.15 p.m. The old Pacific station was in existence for sixty-nine years, from 1937 to 1905, in which time twenty-eight commanders-in-chief flew their flags in twenty flagships. Among the interesting slides will be one displaying H.M. frigate Constance, the first naval ship to anchor in the harbor, Rear-Admiral Fairfax Moresby, the first flag officer to enter the harbor, and a succession of flag officers, flagships and private ships. Many of the slides are shown for the first time, and much of the data is from sources recently searched for the first time. The theme is based on Walbran's "B.C. Coast Names," which has been checked over and largely added to with the aid of the hydrographer of the admiralty, the admiralty librarian, the Public Records Office in Chancery Lane and the provincial archives in Victoria.

TWO-YEAR TERM FOR MAYORS IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Warm Contest at Municipal Convention at Nanaimo Ends in Positive Resolution

By Times Staff Representative

Nanaimo, Oct. 18.—Two-year terms for mayors, where the council is elected for a like term, precipitated a warm contest in the municipal convention here to-day.

When the proposal of Victoria was temporarily held up on a snap vote, endorsing approval of the change registered by the resolutions committee, Alderman Holmes loudly voiced the only negative, and was supported by Alderman Brown, who introduced an amendment referring the resolution back for inclusion of a provision giving the voters a voice before the change is effected.

Alderman Marchant besought action without reference to the voters, declaring the public to be fickle and citing as example the 3,000 signatures to the petition asking Reeve Anscomb to run for the Victoria mayoralty.

The convention adopted the two-year term for mayors with the provision that the voters must first approve the extension of the term, the change being made on the floor of the convention.

The convention approved Victoria suggestions authorizing municipal authorities to secure registration of Crown lands when the purchaser fails to do so, and also to register titles to tax sale lands under similar circumstances. Victoria resolutions dealing with assessment court procedure and to describe as on parcel contiguous lots bearing improvements, were approved. A group of minor changes in the Municipal Act, sought by Victoria, were either approved or referred to the executive for action.

NEW DECISION TO BE VALUABLE IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

Labor Department Plans no Appeal in Island Lumber Prosecutions

The Provincial Labor Department is not planning to appeal cases which were launched recently against the Mayo Lumber Company and dismissed by a Duncan court. The Department does not consider an appeal desirable but the legal facts brought out in the trials will be extremely valuable in future prosecutions it was stated today.

Decision not to prosecute the cases further does not mean that officials are easing up their efforts to enforce labor laws, it was explained. By revealing technical weaknesses in the manner of prosecution, the trials are regarded as extremely useful to the Department. Legal questions involved in the enforcement of the Male Minimum Wage Act, the Hours of Work Act and the Semi-monthly Payment of Wages Act and not understood before the Duncan trials all have been clarified by the recent decisions.

HON. F. A. PAULINE CONFERS WITH CITY

Suits Made in B.C. From British Yarns Shown at City Hall To-day

Suits from imported British yarns, manufactured in British Columbia, were shown at the City Hall to-day, when John Moore of Bradford, England, worsted mill operator, met the industrial committee of the City Council and Hon. F. A. Pauline, B.C. Agent-General in London.

Mr. Pauline expressed great interest in the suits exhibited and which were said to have been manufactured from yarn supplied from the Bradford factory of Mr. Moore.

Mr. Moore is endeavoring to interest the city in the creation of a specialty branch of the worsted trade in Victoria, in a project now in the committee stage for investigation.

Mr. Pauline took part in the preliminary negotiations, which resulted in Mr. Moore coming to Victoria to study the question of the worsted trade openings in Western Canada.

NIGHT SCHOOL PROVES POPULAR

Some 600 Students Enrolled For Special Courses in Technical Subjects

With 600 students enrolled, the technical and night school classes of the city, held under the auspices of the City School Board, are drawing increased interest this year. The lectures are held on Mondays and Thursdays at the High School and Technical School buildings, with prominent instructors, under the supervision of W. H. Binns, supervisor of technical education in the city.

The courses include continuation classes in the ordinary school curriculum, languages, commercial subjects, arts, domestic science, engineering, drafting and design, as well as special courses in public speaking, pottery and other subjects. Those enrolled in the classes are mainly adults, with ages ranging from fifteen to thirty years.

The night school work in Victoria has been popular since its inception, and this year the classes are being attended more heavily than ever.

New Chief Clerk Arrives at Empress; Likes Coast Climate

E. G. Goodridge, former chief clerk of the Palliser Hotel in Calgary, arrived in Victoria and was inaugurated as chief clerk of the Empress Hotel today.

"I've never lived on the Coast before, but I think I'm going to like it," Mr. Goodridge said. "It will be something new for me to be away from the stiff Winters of Calgary."

Mr. Goodridge has been at the Palliser Hotel for the last ten years. His wife and daughter are at present in California, but will join him here soon to make their home here.

VOTERS' LIST IS FILLING UP

Large numbers of women voters registered yesterday at the City Hall, taking the necessary declaration of British parentage and legal age to secure the inclusion of their names on the City Voters' List. A feature of the registrations this year has been the number of women applying for the privileges of the franchise. The announcement of a woman candidate for council honors is believed to have stimulated many registrations by women; while a statement as to a possible referendum on beer by the glass, made at a local prohibition meeting, drew many inquiries and new registrations at the office of the City Clerk. Only twelve days now remain before the City Voters' List is completed, the roster closing at 5 p.m. on October 31. Only property owners are registered without application, while in other cases the taking of a simple declaration is required.

KIWANIANS HEAR OF FOOTBALL TOUR

Alderman James Adam, Manager of All-Canadian Team, Speaker at Luncheon

"Our trip not only helped to place Canada on the map but also drew closer the bonds of friendship between this Dominion and New Zealand," stated Alderman James Adam, manager of the All-Canadian soccer team which toured the Antipodes recently, in his address given before the Kiwanis Club to-day.

At Auckland the Canadian team was given a wonderful reception, Mr. Adam said.

Speaking on the subject of the Canadians' tour—to boost the game of soccer in New Zealand—Mr. Adam stated that Rugby football is the premier sport of that country and it will never be displaced by the association game. Rugby football is drilled into the youngsters at school and is played in every city and village.

During the tour Mr. Adam addressed twenty-one schools and colleges on Canada, its prospects and on soccer.

At New Plymouth where the opening match was played, 1,000 schoolboys attended the match. Played in the crater of a dead volcano this game was won by the Canadians, 10-1.

Mr. Adam related the whole tour of the Canadian team through New Zealand, telling of the team's visit to the geysers and mud-baths and many other interesting incidents.

The final game of the tour was the test match at Auckland played before a crowd of 23,000. The Canadians finally won out 6-2. At the conclusion of the game the players of the two teams joined hands in the middle of the field while the band played "Auld Lang Syne," with the people joining in the singing.

On the return trip the team played a benefit match at Suva and raised $200 for the hospital there, while at Honolulu they participated in another game and raised $508 for the Shriners' Hospital for crippled children.

During the luncheon to-day Donald Watson, pupil of the Victoria College, winner of the Kiwanis Club's annual $100 scholarship this year was introduced to the members by Dr. S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Euducation for the Province.

Two solos by Miss Eva Payne were enjoyed by the members. Mrs. Warren acted as accompanist.

PEDESTRIAN FALLS UNDER AUTOMOBILE

James Thompson Cut and Bruised When He Stepped in Front of Car

James Thompson of 447 Kingston Street, sustained a gash over the right eye and various other minor cuts and bruises when, according to a police report, he stepped out in front of an automobile at the corner of Belleville and Menzies Streets at 6.25 o'clock last night.

The effort of the driver of the automobile, Horace C. Watson, 542 Montreal Street, to stop his car and avoid the man was of no avail, police have learned.

A telephone dispatch to headquarters informing them of the accident came in within a few minutes of its happening and Constable George Claire was dispatched with the patrol wagon, to attend the injured man and rush him, if necessary, to hospital. Constable Claire gave the injured pedestrian first aid treatment, put him in the patrol wagon and drove him to police headquarters, where Dr. Walter Bapty attended him at the station.

Later, Thompson was driven home in the police car.

There is a barricade on Menzies Street, and it was from behind this that Thompson stepped suddenly into the view of the motorist. Presumably, police say, neither the driver nor the pedestrian observed the near approach of the other. The automobile was proceeding along Belleville Street and just coming into Menzies.

Pupils' Recital—A most successful recital was given on Saturday evening by the pupils of Miss Irene M. Rust in the ladies' parlor of the First Baptist Church before a large gathering of relatives and friends. Miss Rust was assisted by Miss Isabel Vimpany and Roger Perullet. The programme consisted of piano solos and duets. Much pleasure was added to the evening by a violin and piano duet by Jenny and Roger Perullet, who were heartily encored. Those taking part were: Douglas Williams, Rosemary King, Billie Rippon, Florence Rowley, George Tippett, Harold Williams, Colin Lucas, Kathleen Ellis, Jenny Perullet, Leonard Fryer, Gladys Rowley, Betty Thomson, Lillian Barton, Audrey Baird, Agnes Brookman, Kathleen Baird, Betty Cowdery, Joan Cowdery, Rayna Thomson, Dorothy Williams, Jessamine Fryer, Edwin Comber and Marie Rust. Miss Vimpany and Miss Rust brought the programme to a close with a Hungarian duet. Florence Rowley, Jenny Perullet, Marie Rust and Edwin Comber all received hearty encores, also Betty and Joan Cowdery for their piano duet. The evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

ESQUIMALT RURAL NURSING PROVES VALUABLE WORK

Annual Meeting Hears Encouraging Reports of Accomplishments

Colwood, Oct. 18.—The eighth annual meeting of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service was held in the Colwood Hall last night, when there was a good representative attendance from Colwood, Langford, Albert Head, and Luxton and Happy Valley. The chair was taken by the president, E. P. Ashe.

The resolution submitted to the meeting for amending the constitution, on motion of Major Meredith Jones, seconded by J. W. Little, was unanimously adopted. The constitution now provides that any ratepayer in the districts covered by the service, whether resident or not, is a member of the association, with the right to vote at any annual or general meeting of the association, and any resident of the district, non-ratepayers, may become members of the association on payment of the membership subscription, but the members of the Council shall be elected from resident members only, and upon any member of the council ceasing to reside in the district he or she ceases to be a member of the council. This article and clause does not affect the secretary-treasurer, who is appointed by the executive committee and is not a member of the council.

ANNUAL REPORT

The president's report, for the council, shows a year of progress, and contained recommendations to the incoming board. The report, which was in part as follows, was adopted with satisfaction:

"The year has been an eventful one, in that a step forward was marked by the establishment of an annual Child Health Day in the Health District covered by this association, May 1 being dedicated to this annual celebration, and by extending the dental work, whether it be special treatment that is required or the usual fillings, cleaning or extractions.

WATER CONDITIONS

"Complaints were received by the council regarding unsatisfactory condition of water in the Colwood and Langford areas, due to the non-flushing of the dead ends in the main, and steps were at once taken to have these conditions remedied, which were successful, and the last report of the representatives on the council from these two districts were to the effect that the dead ends were flushed at regular intervals and that there were no further complaints.

"A new car was purchased this year for the use of the nurse, which was put on the road at a total cost of $400, the trade-in price of the 1925 coupe allowed being considered a very fair one by the council.

Plans have been discussed by the executive committee, and approved by the council at their last quarterly meeting, for more adequate facilities for holding dental clinics, and also for extending our work to include regular monthly "well baby" clinics. We therefore recommend to the incoming board that this project be followed up."

DR. BERMAN

Dr. Berman gave an address which was heard with deep interest and which left much food for thought with his hearers, and which was afterwards described by Dr. D. Donald, M.O.H. of the district as being "a courageous speech." Dr. Berman spoke on the social problem facing the medical profession of to-day, and the need for correct diagnosis of disease and getting at the causation of disease if it is to be prevented. Vaccine and toxin-anti-toxin treatment was strongly advocated by the speaker, which he said had been responsible for the practical eradicatiin of the dread disease, diphtheria, which in days gone by claimed such a toll of human life. Dr. Berman's address was received with hearty applause and the passing of a vote of thanks which was ably moved by Dr. Donald.

Dr. I. Bastow Hudson spoke on the "Psychology of Public Health," and again strongly advocated physical exercises for the growing child. Dr. Hudson's suggestions along these lines will be followed up by the council of the association.

Dr. Donald pointed out the need of adequate equipment in the schools, and the need for fitting the equipment to the child instead of as at the present time the child having to be fitted to the equipment.

FROWN ON MUNICIPAL CONTROL OF FUNDS

Municipalities' Convention Objects to Plan For Superannuation Funds

By Times Staff Representative

Nanaimo, Oct. 18.—Municipal control of superannuation funds was frowned upon by the Union of B.C Municipalities convention this morning when the proposal of Victoria designed to lessen the immediate yearly cost of pensions from $29,000 to $10,000 met with overwhelming defeat at the instance of the resolutions committee of the convention.

Alderman Marchant assured the delegates that the Victoria Council has been extremely sympathetic with the move for municipal pensions, the matter being approved without a dissenting voice. "We simply want that we shall not have to build up that enormous reserve fund already accumulated by the Province," he protested.

Chairman Bridgeman explained the cautious action of his committee as due to the desire to avoid meddling with a measure as yet untried by experience. He suggested that direct application to the Legislature might bring results.

Other speakers objected to the withdrawal of the larger municipalities was not fair to government operation of pensions for municipal employees, and Comptroller Pilkington of Vancouver objected to deferring payments to future years as proven unsound by actual experience.

HOCKEY, BOXING TIMES SPORTING NEWS BASKETBALL, RUGBY

DalhousieRuggers Will Be Invited to Play One Game Here

Nova Scotia Team Agrees to Come West For Series During Christmas Holidays

Open Date on December 28 May be Filled by Visitors Coming to Victoria

During the Christmas holidays it is expected that the rugby players from Dalhousie University, Nova Scotia, will be here for a match with the pick of Victoria.

For a time there was some doubt as to whether or not the Easterners would make the long transcontinental trip but the following dispatch from Vancouver this morning announced that the jaunt would be undertaken:

"Assurance that any deficit incurred on the tour will be looked after by the alumni of the Institution has been given the squad of Dalhousie English Rugby players invited to visit this city during the Yuletide season and definite announcement was made by the Vancouver Rugby Union, Monday night, that the easterners will make the trip. Upwards of twenty-five players and officials will make the trip, leaving Halifax about December 18 and arriving Sunday, December 25. The first game will be played December 26, the second the following Saturday and the third New Year's Day."

ASKS FOR A GAME

Following receipt of this word by The Times it was communicated to Gordon Cameron, president of the Victoria Rugby Union, who immediately wrote to the Vancouver Union to ask for a game in this city. Each year the Vancouver Union brings an outside team in for exhibition games during the Christmas holidays. Usually it is a team from California. Victoria works in on the series by getting an open date in the middle of the week.

Wednesday, December 28, is an open date for the Dalhousie ruggers and it is hoped that they will visit this city for a game on that day.

IMPORTANT UNDERTAKING

The trip of the Dalhousie team is one of the most important ever undertaken by a team in Canada. It will mean a real transcontinental trip as the team will journey from the ancient naval and military centre on the Atlantic to tide-water on the Pacific. English rugby is played on the seaboards of Canada, where it was established in the early days of the country by the naval and military officers. The game has flourished in British Columbia, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, but has failed to make very much progress in the rest of Canada, where the Canadian Code holds the interest of all.

If the Dalhousie team agrees to play in Victoria it will be a big boost for the game here. The appearance of outside teams, especially one from the other side of Canada, is of great help to any sport.

Victoria rugby fans will await with interest the reply to the letter which is now on its way to Vancouver asking for a game here.

"LONG COUNT" WILL NOT FAVOR MAN ON FLOOR IN FUTURE

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 18.—The National Boxing Association has incorporated a new rule in its code regulating the count over a fallen boxer. According to the rule the timekeeper shall arise when a boxer is floored and immediately begin to toll off the seconds. The referee is ordered to conduct the boxer scoring the knock-down to the farthest neutral corner, then return to the fallen boxer and take up the count with the timekeeper.

Should the contestant scoring the knockdown leave the farthest neutral corner, the rule provides that the timekeeper and referee shall halt the count until he returns to the designated corner.

Another rule adopted stipulates that when a boxer falls or is knocked out of the ring, he shall be given twenty seconds to return.

Holdouts in Hockey Must Watch Step Or Suffer Suspension

National Hockey League Takes Action to Bring to End Players Holding Out

Must Report or Suffer Penalties; Winnipeg Players Going to California

Professional hockey players who like to hang out for bigger salaries are going to find the business very unprofitable as a result of the action taken by the National Hockey League last night.

Any player failing to report on the date ordered will be suspended by the league without pay.

This ruling will strengthen the hands of the hockey moguls in bucking the every increasing demand by hockey players for bigger salaries. The players, seeing the enormous "gates" that their efforts draw, look for a boost in their pay each season. The moguls are usually willing to split the amount of the demand, but quite often a star player, thinking that his club cannot get along without him, will hold out and threaten that he will quit hockey. When the season opens and the team does not start any too well the fans begin to shout for their star and most times the mogul has to give in.

HATE TO LOSE MONEY

Now, however, things will be a great deal different. Players who hold out after the date they are ordered to report will be suspended without pay by the league. This will mean so much a day off his salary when he does report, and if there is one thing that a player dislikes it is to lose his money.

Detroit, Oct. 18.—Suspensions handed out to Billy Coutu of the Boston Bruins, and Hooley Smith, star of the Ottawa world champion hockey team, will not be lightened, governors of the N.H.L. decided in a meeting here today. Coutu was suspended for life and Smith for thirty days following the last game of the championship at Ottawa last year when the two players engaged in a fist fight.

The governors, representing every club in the league, outside of Ottawa, meeting here in connection with the formal opening of the Olympic Stadium adopted a new rule regarding holdouts. They decided players failing to report to their clubs on the date ordered would be suspended without pay by the league.

Winnipeg, Oct. 18.—Twelve potential hockey stars developed by local senior, intermediate and junior leagues, probably will play with the newly-formed California professional hockey league. Eight of them already have received instructions from Los Angeles to be ready to report at a moment's notice and others are reported ready to sign contracts.

Some time ago a number of players were signed up by Kenny McKenzie, former Edmonton hockey mogul, who said he represented C. C. Pyle, promoter of "Red" Grange of football fame and professional tennis. Billy Schiving, a local hockey enthusiast, who played in the California league last season, is personal representative of McKenzie here now, and he will accompany the players to California.

Following are the players reported to have been signed or negotiating contracts: Johnny McVicar, Frankie Morris, Connie Josephs, Johnny Harrison, Harry Neil, Edward Lowe, Jack McConaghan, Theo Marius, Stony Thursteinson, "Smoky" Harris, J. Kuhn and Bun Stephenson.

None of the mentioned players are "stars," but all have shown ability during past seasons.

It is understood the California League will be a four-club circuit—Los Angeles, Hollywood, San Francisco and Oakland.

WON DECISION

Boston, Oct. 18.—Tom Sayers, Detroit heavyweight, won the decision over Roy Mitchell of Halifax, N.S., in a slow ten-round bout at the Arena tonight. Sayers weighed 198 pounds and Mitchell 178.

WON ON POINTS

Trenton, N.J., Oct. 18.—Pat Haley of Philadelphia decisively outpointed Johnny Oakey of this city last night in a ten-round bout. Haley weighed 150, Oakey 156.

BOXER KILLED

Los Angeles, Oct. 18.—Benny Chavez, lightweight boxer of El Paso, Texas, died in the receiving hospital of stab wounds inflicted in a fight at a party in his room last night.

Indoor Tennis Will Start on Courts at Willows Thursday

New Club Rushing Preparations For Opening; Fine Lighting and Floors

Tennis Will be Played Three Nights a Week With Three Nights For Badminton

For the first time in the history of sport in Victoria a club has been formed to play indoor tennis, and two courts are being laid out in the main building at the Willows Exhibition Grounds. These will be ready for play on Thursday evening of this week at 7.30 o'clock. It is expected a large number of the members will be on hand for play. And many interested spectators will attend.

The provisional committee of the club consisting of H. G. Griffith, E. S. Brown, R. Hocking and J. G. Brown are calling a meeting at an early date for the election of permanent officers and executive committee and the adoption of a constitution which is now being drafted and will be presented for consideration at the meeting. The date of the meeting will be settled on Thursday evening by those present.

BADMINTON ON CARD

Play for tennis on the indoor courts will be on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings and on the mornings and afternoons of Monday, Wednesday and Fridays with one court available on Saturday afternoon. The other portions of the days and evenings of the six days will be taken up with Badminton for which courts are now being marked out across the tennis courts. The tennis lines will be in white and the badminton lines in orange.

The lighting has not definitely been determined upon, but it is expected that about 3,500 watts will be used on each tennis court. Badminton will not require quite so much light and some slight rearrangement of the present lighting may be necessary.

Arrangements are in progress whereby tea may be served at any session of play in the afternoons or evenings. Dressing rooms for men and women will also be made available.

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP

Applications for membership should be tendered with the season's subscription for tennis of $10 to R. Hocking of Peden Bros., 1410 Douglas Street, who has been authorized to receive them. In order to prevent disappointment all those intending to take advantage of the club should make application on or before Thursday, October 20.

TYPIST TO TRY TO SWIM CHANNEL TO VINDICATE WOMEN

London, Oct. 18.—"I shall try to lift the cloud from English swimmers," Miss Mercedes Gleitz, London typist and Channel swimmer, declared to-day before setting out for Boulogne, France. From there she will go to Cape Gris Nez, intending to repeat her Channel swim "as a personal vindication and for the honor of women swimmers."

"Dr. Dorothy Cochrane Logan's hoax has covered us with suspicion and filled the minds of the public with doubt," she said. "The water is much colder now than when I swam the English Channel on October 7. The weather conditions are not so favorable now—but I feel I must try it. Something must be done to restore the prestige which Dr. Logan's criticisms have impaired."

The young typist refused to make any promise or to threaten to break the record of 14 hours and 31 minutes held by Gertrude Ederle of New York. "I shall do what I can. We can not tell what our plan of attack will be until we study the currents and tides," she explained.

Dr. Logan protests that she did not intend to reflect upon the integrity of Miss Gleitz's swim and friends of Miss Gleitz tell her that no second crossing of the Channel is necessary for the vindication of her claim. Despite this she refused to alter her purpose.

New York, Oct. 18—The International Professional Swimmers' Association regards the Channel swim hoax of Dr. Dorothy Cochrane Logan, English woman, as a "pioneer effort to bring about authentication of records made by professional swimmers," its president, Bruce Grant, said yesterday. "As it now stands," Mr. Grant said, "professional swimming records are something of a joke. It is common knowledge that three-fourths of the so-called records in and around Manhattan and up and down the Hudson are brazen fakes. Of all sports there is more opportunity of cheating in long distance swimming than in any other. It is only where competitive events are held that there is any semblance of officialdom."

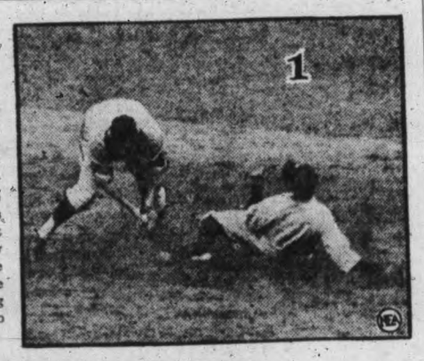
Grant cabled congratulations to Dr. Logan for having done "just what this organization is striving for—authentication of records."

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 18.—Gertrude Ederle, first woman to swim the English Channel, yesterday cabled Dr. Dorothy Logan of England, commending the latter's sportsmanship in revealing her fake Channel swim.

Saanich Athletes Will Meet To-morrow

A meeting of the Saanich Athletic Association will be held on Wednesday, October 19, at the Saanichton Agricultural Hall. All those interested in the association are invited to attend.

"SLIDE, TONY, SLIDE"



A World Series run for the Yankees by Tony Lazzeri is pictured here slide by slide. In the seventh inning of the third game, at New York, the Yank second-sacker singled to centre and, on Dugan's sacrifice, beat Meadows's throw to second to Rhyne who's seen at the right about to tag Tony—but too late. Then—

Pennock, the next man up, rolled a slow grounder to Rhyne and Tony galloped toward the plate. Rhyne fielded clean and winged perfectly to Gooch at home. But the boy Lazzeri was too fleet of foot. He and Gooch ended up in a tangle on the platter with Umpire Moran standing over them and shouting "safe," as photoed at the right.

Durst, pinch-hitting for Grabowski, grounded to Rhyne. And while Durst was being thrown out at first, Tony lit out from second two strides ahead of Harris's toss across the diamond. Here you have Lazzeri hooking in safely under Traynor's glove at third. He didn't wait there long for—

Bays Will Have to Spring Surprise in Order to Break Tie

Rennies and Garrison Look Like Winners To-morrow; Tillicums Play Navy

Two Matches Scheduled in First Division Saturday; Thistles Meet City

Unless the Hudson's Bay eleven spring a surprise there is not much chance of the present time for the leadership of the Wednesday League being broken to-morrow. At the present time the Garrison and Rennies are on an equal footing for top position with two victories each. The Garrison play the Bays while Rennies meet Saanich United.

The draw for to-morrow is as follows:

Tillicums sv. Navy, Royal Athletic Park, referee McKay.

Rennie and Taylor vs. Saanich United, referee, Hewison.

Garrison vs. Hudson's Bay, Work Point, referee, Oliver.

GOOD GAME EXPECTED

Fans should see a good game between the Tillicums and Navy. Last week the clubmen met defeat at the hands of Rennie and Taylor, while the Navy were beaten by the Garrison after putting up a great fight. In order to remain in the running both the Tillicums and Navy need a victory, so a battle royal should result.

Confident after their victory last week the bakers will seek another win at the expense of the Saanich United. The Saanich lads have yet to chalk up a mark in the win column but hope to take it out of last year's champs. It looks like a tough consignment for the United.

At Work Point the Garrison, who are setting a fast pace and are touted by many as the team to beat, will tackle the Bays. The Tommies have a good club this season and the fans are looking forward with interest to their game with Rennies. The Bays are going out with the intention of lowering the colors of the Tommies.

The teams will be as follows:

Tillicums—Sallaway, Burns, Clark, Davis, A. N. Other, Sewell, Cann, Hamar, Bissell, Wright and Rigby.

Plenty of action will be seen in the First Division soccer matches scheduled for this week-end. The draw brings together the first four teams in the league standing against one another so some changes may result.

The draw is as follows:

Esquimalt vs. Victoria Wests.
Saanich Thistles vs. Victoria City.
Five C's vs. Canadian Scottish.

Leading the league with four straight victories, the Thistles will meet stiff opposition in Victoria City. The City, who have only one defeat chalked against them, will field their strongest team in an effort to down the undefeated league leaders.

Esquimalt, who fell before the determined pace of the Thistles last Saturday, will play Victoria West. The dockers are finding things pretty tough this season and will have to improve their playing if they expect to hold the league championship. The Wests, with a young forward line, are giving the other clubs plenty to think about and will be right after the scalps of the blueshirts.

Five C's and the Canadian Scottish, the two tail-end clubs, who have yet to win a game, will have a chance to get a win. The Scottish showed a decided improvement last Saturday in their game with the City, while the Five C's have been playing good soccer but their luck has been against them.

Juvenile League matches for Saturday are as follows:

EIGHTEEN YEARS AND UNDER

Five C's vs. Royal Oak.
Esquimalt vs. Saanich Rovers.
Tillicums vs. James Bay.

FIFTEEN YEARS AND UNDER

Five C's vs. Saanich Rovers.
Fairfield vs. Oak Bay.

THIRTEEN YEARS AND UNDER

Saanich Rovers vs. Five C's.

Bobby Jones On Golf

NET, FOR PRACTICE GOLF, EXCELLENT FOR FORM

Yesterday, I was introduced to what was to me a new form of practice golf, and it has brought home to me what might be done at home in the spare moments of busy days, where there is not time to go out to the golf club. Every golfer is anxious to improve his game and should be interested in finding or making opportunities for doing so.

On the lawn by the side of his home in Yarmouth, Maine, Don Abbott has rigged up a splendid driving net. The backstop is of canvas and the sides and top are screened with netting for a distance of twenty or twenty-five feet. Underneath is the turf of the lawn from which iron and brassie shots can be played as from a good fairway. The contrivance occupies a negligible amount of space and affords the golfer a place to practice where he needs no caddie and very few balls.

So the other day as I whacked away at a few dozen shots with Don's clubs, I found myself wondering just how much was this kind of practice worth and how it compared with playing in the wide open spaces. And I also asked myself how much good did unfortunate people who Winter in the North get out of those indoor golfing schools which have become so popular of recent years.

KEEPS MUSCLES TRAINED

Quite obviously practice in a net is better than no practice at all; for it keeps the muscles trained to their proper jobs and prevents the softening of the hands which brings blisters in the Spring. If that were all it would be worthwhile, I think. But there is more.

Driving a full shot into a canvas thirty feet away does not offer the thrill in striking a ball down the middle of a beautiful fairway. Much is left to the imagination to say that this one would have sliced or that one would have gone straight. The little niceties of the fade or draw, and of low or high trajectory, cannot of course be developed when the continuous flight and behavior of the ball cannot be observed.

Only one-half of the golf shot is at command. Hitting the ball is all there is and we are denied the satisfaction of watching the good ones and spared the agony of beholding the bad ones; which after all may be more than a fifty-fifty break in our favor.

But I believe that nearly every one can know by the feel of the ball upon the club whether or not it has been properly struck, and can at least in this way school himself in true hitting. That is half the battle and if Spring golf can be begun with an accurate and correct swing, the little adjustments for range and direction will not be found difficult.

MENTAL HAZARD REMOVED

Probably the greatest defect in this scheme of Winter practice is that one of the fundamental difficulties and beauties of the game is removed from the play, namely, the sense of responsibility, the mental hazard. It would seem to me far easier to produce a perfect swing when standing in front of a net which must stop the ball within thirty feet than when confronted with an iron shot of 180 yards to a closely guarded green. In the first case there is nothing to worry about.

Whatever happens the next shot will not be played from a sand pit and no six or seven will mar a good score. In actual play the mental side of the game, the mental hazard, is one of the principal testing components. Without its threatening uncertainties golf is no longer golf.

But I am convinced that net practice can bring about an enormous improvement in technique, in mechanical ball-hitting, as detached from the playing of the game. It then will remain to be seen if this technical improvement can be brought onto the field under the strain of a round of golf.

I am frankly impressed with the value of a net at home for Winter practice. Nearly every business man works his hardest in Winter and has little time for play even if weather permits. But any of us can spare a half-hour or so every now and then to hit a few dozen shots. I do not live in a particularly cold climate but I am too busy at college after September to play much golf, and I have promised myself a driving net for this Winter.

Winning Pennant After Tough Race Did Not Help Bush

Mite Manager Failed to Gain Recognition Because of Cuyler Incident

Billy Evans Says Bush Feels Position Keenly; Fans Clamor For His Scalp

By BILLY EVANS

Winning a major league pennant is just about the last word in the managerial line.

Such a happening, as a rule, makes the pilot of the champions the outstanding figure in the community, for the time being at least.

Donie Bush, who led the Pittsburgh Pirates to a glorious triumph in the National League, under adverse conditions and after one of the toughest races in the history of baseball, is not experiencing the conditions that confront most managers.

Even with the pennant tucked safely away, there are a lot of the "wolves," ball players' name for the fans, on Bush's back, literally speaking.

Bush's extraordinary situation has been created by his differences with "Kiki" Cuyler, star outfielder of the Pirates.

A MAN OF COURAGE

Shortly prior to the start of the opening game of the world series, I sat on the Pittsburgh bench, chatting with the great little manager of the Pirates.

I have always had the geratest admiration for Bush, a former American League star. I umpired the first game he played in the American League, when he joined the Detroit Tigers late in the Fall of 1908 and saved the pennant for them by his remarkable play at short.

Always aggressive, with oodles of courage, Bush was ever a man of strong opinions. An umpire might have a rumpus with him to-day but to-morrow the affair would be entirely forgotten, the slate wiped clean and a new day started.

Not knowing all the details, I have no desire to take sides in the matter, but an acquaintance of twenty years has convinced me that Bush is a square shooter.

FEELS IT KEENLY

While not overly sensitive, Bush feels keenly the adverse attitude a great many Pittsburgh fans have taken in the Cuyler situation.

"Look out there in left field, Bill, and read that banner," said Bush, as he pointed in that general direction. Spread from one end of the bleachers to the other was a sign which read:

"We Want Cuyler."

"I doubt if they get him," said Bush. "Each club can have only one manager. Just as long as I am working for Mr. Dreyfuss I am going to be the pilot of the Pittsburgh club.

"I am going to make mistakes, but I am willing to ride along with my judgment and accept the verdict."

Bush's position is a most unusual one. He burned his bridges when he removed Cuyler from the lineup in August. He had nothing to shoot at but the winning of the pennant. After that, however, it would have taken a world championship to silence Cuyler's admirers.

Capablanca Draws Another Game With Russian Chess King

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 18.—The sixteenth game of the series to decide the world's chess championship being played here between Jose R. Capablanca, of Cuba, and Alexander Alekhine, of Russia, ended in a draw last night after twenty-three moves. After the last move had been made by the Russian challenger, both contestants agreed that further play was useless and a draw was declared. The standing of the series remains unchanged, Alekhine having a three to two lead with eleven games drawn. The seventeenth game will be played to-day.

London, Oct. 18.—The twelve players in the International Chess Masters' tournament at the British Empire Club have completed six rounds with the exception of one game from the fourth round which remains adjourned. Dr. S. Tartakower, of Paris, leads the field by half a point, with four others tied for second place. These include F. J. Marshall, America; A. Nimzowitsch, Denmark; R. Reti, Czechoslovakia, and Dr. M. Widmar, Jugoslavia. In the sixth round Marshall scored a notable victory over Nimzowitsch, while Sir George Thomas won his first game since the beginning of the tournament.

Record Round of 69 Gives Andy Kay Golf Laurels of Ontario

Toronto, Oct. 18.—With a record-breaking sixty-nine, Andrew Kay, of Lambton, Ont., yesterday won the Ontario professionals' golf tournament from thirty-five competitors. Kay's score betters the former course record of the Islington Course by two strokes. The winner's total score for the thirty-six holes was 144. R. Cunningham, of Missasauga, was second with 151, and J. Martin, of Galt, third with 153.

SEATTLE WINS CHECKERS

Seattle, Oct. 18.—The Seattle Club players won the checker tourney from the Vancouver, B.C., checker team at the Palace. The Seattle players took forty games, while Vancouver got twenty-two of them, and twenty-two were drawn. Charles Johnson was the star, winning seven games and drawing one. Other players who looked good were G. Haphne, Stewart Findlay and C. L. Stone.

"MAN POWER" IS CAPITOL OFFERING WITH RICHARD DIX

Richard Dix reached the Capitol Theatre last night in his latest film hit, "Man Power."

"Man Power" is different from anything Dix has done in the past. No longer is he a college athelete or prize ring hero. In "Man Power" Richard appears as a strapping former officer of a tank corps who endeavors to turn a dilapidated tractor factory into an up-and-going success. Needless to say, he does, but not until obstacles have made him stumble again and again.

The picture opens as Dix pulls into town on an empty freight car. Saving Mary Brian from what he imagines to be a terrible death, he decides to settle down in her home town. Entering the leading industrial plant, he is told to make a group of run-down tractors workable.

It doesn't take him long to discover that Mary's father is president of the factory, nor does it occupy any more time to discover why Philip Strange, the manager, doesn't enjoy his company. The final smash comes on a rainy night when a dam, far above the little valley town, is about to overflow its high walls. Richard finally gets one of the tractors running. He attaches a couple of trailers, loads them with sand bags and—starts on one of the most thrilling rides which have ever been shown on the screen.

"Man Power" brings a star to the screen who is just now at the top of his career. Clarence Badger, the man who made "Senorita," directed. Sam Mintz and Ray Harris adapted Byron Morgan's story. Louise Long prepared the continuity.

On the stage this week are novel vaudeville turns, which include the celebrated Russian tenor, Maxim Brody, in a selected programme of songs; Blandford and Pharis, feature dancing team, who offer "terpsichorean novelties"; and Lorraine Fraser, the vest-pocket soprano soloist.

PLAYHOUSE DOUBLE BILL FEATURES STAGE AND SCREEN

The revue showing all this week on the Playhouse stage is made up of some novel entertainment features. Charles Courtier in presenting it, feels that the material which he has gathered during his recent visit to California will please Victoria audiences as much as it did Southern neighbors.

Lewis Stone, in the film offering, First National featured player, surprised the personnel of his studio the other day by doing first the Charleston and then the Black Bottom.

The modern dances were performed for "Lonesome Ladies," in which Stone is featured with Anna Q. Nilsson, and which is now being presented at the Playhouse Theatre. Before Ray Rockett and Joseph Henabery, respectively producer and director of the picture, knew that dignified and soldierly Stone could do the jazz numbers, they had arranged to employ an instructor for him.

As a matter of fact, Stone is an accomplished ball-room dancer, and, while preferring the waltz, has not neglected the modern terpsichorean novelties. Dancing, fencing and boxing constitute his favorite conditioning exercises. He also plays tennis, golf and polo.

MONTE BLUE STARS IN "THE BRUTE" AT COLUMBIA NOW

Screen stories with action in the open—have universal appeal, according to Monte Blue, the star of Warner Bros.' production of "The Brute," now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

"Every clock-puncher, hedged in by grim city walls, sees in the great outdoors his green pastures of romance," declared the screen star. "He visualizes in the sweep of the open country, in the mountains and the great forests, a freedom and plans which unhappily he knows only as they are shown on the screen. Hence their fascination for him. They are the foundation of his dreams."

"Even in this day of the automobile the West with its majestic mountain ranges and its snow-capped peaks is comparatively unknown to the large portion of our city dwellers. The screen gives them the glimpse."

It is in untouched areas of the great West that many of the scenes of "The Brute" were filmed. Mount Whitney with its majestic snow-clad crest and magnificent cloud effects is truthfully pictured in "The Brute." The glamour of overnight wealth in one of the great oil booms of history adds the vast derrick-studded fields to the spectacle.

Supporting Monte Blue as the star of "The Brute" is a splendid cast, including Leila Hyams in the leading feminine role, Clyde Cook in a comedy part, Carrol Nye in the juvenile role, and Paul Nicholson.

TWO BIG FILMS ARE SHOWING AT COLISEUM THEATRE

"We're All Gamblers," Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture directed by James Cruze, opened last night at the Coliseum Theatre to a succession of laughs, applause and awed silences. Life's ups and downs in a big city and the thread of love which weaves it together and makes it worth while are vividly portrayed in this new Meighan offering.

The story is different and gripping. It was originally a stage play, "Lucky Sam McCarver," by Sydney Howard, but it has been developed and made stronger for the screen by Hope Loring. James Cruze, maker of "The Covered Wagon" and "Old Ironsides" has done a splendid job of direction.

The role of Black Larsen, the villain in Charlie Chaplin's United Artists Corporation comedy, "The Gold Rush," now at the Coliseum Theatre is played by Tom Murray a veteran of the vaudeville stage.

WILL GIVE RECITAL AT METROPOLITAN

Palmer Christian, Organist, to Give Programme Nov. 1

The last few years has seen increasing interest in the organ as a concert instrument. The brilliant and unique recitals of Vierne, Bonnet, Dupre, Courboin and others have done much to emphasize the important position the organ has taken in modern concert life. Although these names may be said to be representative of continental Europe, the artistry of these master organists knows no geographical bounds; their message of music being understood and appreciated wherever it may be heard.

The name of Palmer Christian, while new to many, bids fair to become associated with all that is highest and best in the realm of organ playing. An American by nationality, and a comparatively young man, this rising concert organist already has made a remarkable name for himself as a performer and has earned the unstinted praise of the severest critics. Studying under the great teachers of Europe, he has held a number of important church and municipal appointments on this continent and is at present director of the organ department, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Music lovers generally, especially those who delight in listening to the "king of instruments" under a master performer, will be interested to hear that Mr. Christian will give a recital at the Metropolitan United Church on Tuesday, November 1.

"CHANG" EPIC TALE OF SIAMESE JUNGLE IS DOMINION FILM

The first performance of Paramount's new jungle melodrama, "Chang," opened last night at the Dominion Theatre.

Photographed in the wildest part of a Siam wilderness by two men who now take their places alongside of the world's foremost producers, Ernest B. Schoedsack and Merian C. Cooper, "Chang" takes its audiences in the midst of thundering elephants, in the mouths of leaping tigers and into scores of other places, the like of which civilized man has never dreamt of. "Chang" is no ordinary travel film. Rather, as we have noted above, it is a jungle melodrama, a tale of primitive struggle, the story of man continually fighting the encroachments of indignant, fiery Nature.

Again and again have the intrepid producers taken their lives into their own hands. One is told that the picture was more than a year in the making. One can understand and appreciate it. One is told that a ferocious man-eating tiger came within four inches of Mr. Schoedsack's camera.

These are the sort of things which pluck "Chang" from out of the ordinary ruin of moviedom and place it in a class by itself.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

Wall Street Journal's Review of To-day's Stock Market Over B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Street Leased Wire to The Victoria Times

New York, Oct. 18.—The evening edition of The Wall Street Journal says: President Coolidge's optimism regarding business was a powerful factor in stimulating the market. Drives on the leaders were halted at noon by publication of the chief executive's statement.

The expression of confidence started an urgent covering movement in the main body of stocks. At the same time call money worked down to four per cent, imparting momentum to the market.

Philadelphia Company showed great strength responsive to buying operations of their small floating supply. Standard Gas controls about eighty-eight per cent of the stock, leaving a balance of 25,000 shares for trading purposes.

Timmins Pushing Big Prospecting Plan

Toronto, Oct. 18. — N. A. Timmins, Incorporation, is carrying out one of the most comprehensive prospecting programmes in Northern Quebec known in the history of Canadian mining. This concern has secured from the Quebec Government a concession on 200 square miles of land away north of Chibougama, and understood to be approximately 250 miles north of the Transcontinental Railway.

Details of this concession have been kept quiet, but a number of parties have been working there quietly for some months past. The extent of the operation can be judged from the fact, that a large aeroplane is kept busy about one week every month carrying supplies in from the company's base on the railroad at Senneterre to the various prospecting parties.

What results have been to date are not known as the country is somewhat inaccessible and is dependent on aeroplane transport. Word filtering out from occasional prospectors, however, is to the effect that something substantial has been uncovered.

It is understood that arrangements have been completed between the Quebec Government and N. A. Timmins, Incorporation, whereby the former will reserve a number of blocks of prospecting ground each containing about 200 square miles exclusively for the Timmins group and that the latter has agreed in return to take them one at a time and prospect each area thoroughly. If minerals are found, the Timmins interests get the areas.

Tech Hughes Hits Rapid Stride Now

Kirkland Lake, Oct. 18. — Development is hitting a very rapid stride in the lower levels of Teck-Hughes Gold Mines. The ore zone has been cut at the fourteenth and fifteenth levels where drifting is advancing at a good rate. This work is already in ore, although it is too soon to know the aggregate width of mineralization at these levels. Also, at the sixteenth and seventeenth levels, crosscuts are advancing toward the ore zone at a good rate, while this is also the immediate programme at the eighteenth and nineteenth levels.

A crushing plant has been installed at a point between the thirteenth and fourteenth level, and a similar plant will be installed at the nineteenth level. This will give outlet to ore at the desired rate to meet the demands of the enlarged plant of 850 tons daily capacity by some time in December.

Mill construction is advancing at an extremely rapid rate, "on schedule," declares Mr. Forbes, general manager. The grinding machinery is all in position, and construction of tanks and other corresponding equipment is well advanced for the second unit of 300 tons. This unit fits in beside the first unit and is an exact duplicate.

In addition to this is the pilot mill of ten tons daily capacity, in which flotation will be employed in treating some of the extremely high-grade ore. This high-grade will be secured from the higher grade stopes or from high-grade faces accordingly as they are encounters.

There seems to be little doubt but that the programme of reaching a total capacity of 350 tons daily will be reached in December. The management is averse to making advance estimates of what the average grade of ore will be, but the records so far established would indicate likelihood of the average being around $18 per ton. In this event, the output would reach $450,000 a month, or at the rate of $5,500,000 a year, beginning about January 1.

Probable costs of operation have not ben stated, but even allowing high costs during a period of extensive development, and a profit of $10 per ton would be indicated. Treating 850 tons of ore daily would give about 310,000 tons of ore annually,—on which a profit of $10 per ton would show annual net profit of about $3,000,000. This, in turn, would equal sixty per cent annually on the company's issued capital.

It is now evident that the first quarter of 1928 gives promise of commencement of a much higher dividend rate. Dividends of ten per cent quarterly appear to be probable, and with likelihood of occasional bonuses. This would also allow for accumulation of a still arger treasury surplus.

To-day's Mining Markets

Victoria and Vancouver markets were steady and unexciting to-day. Most of the stocks in which the bulk of the trading centres are milling around aimlessly.

George Copper was the heaviest trader on the local market to-day, continuing around the 250 level. The stock is being well bought, and as for market action is doing just what most stocks do after a big rise and fast trading, such as George has experienced during the last month—narrow down to small swings and close prices. It is an indication that the market is consolidating its gains in a way to indicate that the next movement will start from this level.

Silverado has been under pressure, and has eased, selling down from 65 to 55 to-day, and closing with the stock offered at 53. The stock is opened at higher prices on the market each morning, and is then sold down. This is making traders study its action closely, as the selling is being done by the same interests that were heavy sellers of Dunwell early last Summer.

$220,000,000 Profits For General Motors; Saturation Far Off

New York, Oct. 18. — Alfred P. Sloan, president, predicts $220,000,000 profits for General Motors.

"One hears occasionally about a so-called saturation point, when the number of cars will cease to increase," Mr. Sloan said. "I do not think that point will be reached for a long time to come."

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, Oct. 18.—Wheat: Continued weather of the very best brand over western Canada with the resumption of threshing in all district and a heavier movement in the country, gave the wheat market a very heavy appearance to-day, and prices broke sharply. There was considerable hedging pressure coming from elevator companies while important long interests were throwing their holdings overboard. There was a little export business working on the scale down, but the volume continues disappointing and the foreigner is showing no anxiety to his future requirements, and is evidently expecting lower prices. As an indication of the poor foreign demand it is said that ocean tonnage at Montreal is going a begging at cheap rates.

Liverpool was weak, closing ⅝ to 1 lower. Country deliveries in the West yesterday were 3,362,251 bushels, and they will probably be almost double thes figures in a few days if the weather holds fine. There were 1,240 cars whta on the inspection sheet this morning, only 310 grading contract. Wheat deliveries into the clearing-house to-day were 150,000 bushels all three northern.

The Canadian visible increased 8,795,000 bushels, and Bradstreets world visible supply increased 13,841,000 bushels. Seaboard estimated total sales in all positions to-day at 500,000 bushels, about half as large as yesterday. In the cash market there was an excellent demand for No. 1 and 2 northern from shorts, shippers and mills, and premiums on these grades were from 1 to 1½ better. There was a little northern worked overnight for export, but the remand for this trade and No. 4 and 6 was heavy. There was a fair demand for the toughs.

With such favorable weather now preavailing and the poor foreign demand, the market has every appearance of sinking lower, and we continue to suggest bulge sales. Winnipeg closed 2⅜ to 4 ⅛ lower, or on the bottom.

Coast grans—All markets lost ground heavily, oats and barley being especially weak in the cash month. Alberta has a very good crop of oats and these are now coming to the market by the way of hedging. The demand for barley was poor, buyers holding off in anticipation of the decline, which was also the case in other grains. Oats closed from 1 to 2 cents lower, barley ⅝ to 2 lower and rye about 1 cent off.

Flax—This market was weak, reflecting the decline in other commodities. Crushing demand continues very poor. Closing figures 1½ to 1¾ lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN

(By the B.C. Bond Corporation)

Chicago, Oct. 18—Wheat: The wheat market ignored the big exports late yesterday and declined on the weakness in Winnipeg. Pressure was evident from the start and it increased as the session progressed with new lows on the crop registered. There were times when local operators tried to anticipate a rally and there was buying credited to seaboard interests but rallies were small and mostly of short duration.

The summer-like weather in the Canadian northwest will speed up the marketing, hedging pressure by the northwest and weakness in the southern hemisphere were contributing causes to the decline which was the severest in three weeks. The liquidation may run somewhat further in view of the prospect for more favorable weather.

Corn: Resisted selling pressure early and there was some short covering, but the market weakened later with wheat and a quick decline to new lows was made. Weather over the belt was favorable and the trade paid no attention to reports of the possibility of export business via the gulf. Corn may work somewhat lower but after this decline would be cautious about pressing sales. Liverpool due 1 1-2 to 1 7-8 lower.

New York, Oct. 18.—The feature of the market to-day was a sharp rally in the late afternoon, in response to a report carried by the local news agencies in which the cabinet was credited with reporting to President Coolidge that business was improving. The early dealings reflected fresh liquidation in progress, which had an unsettling influence. The call money was at 4¼ per cent but later ruled at per cent and this, in itself, prompted some short covering.

There were numerous strong spots in the list to-day reflecting developments within various companies such as Radio, Beechnut and other specialties. Though the market leaders as well as the main body of stocks moved in a mixed manner and established their best levels in the late dealings.

Overnight news carried favorable figures on oil production. A falling off in the domestic output of nearly 10,000 barrels daily for the week was the feature. Brokerage borrowings of $54,000,000 less than last week were reported for the New York district. An extension of the rally seems to be in prospect but feel as though price enhancement should be used to reduce long lines.

New York, Oct. 18 (By Branson, Brown Leased Wire)—Whitney to-day says:

"Yesterday there was recorded the market's second failure within a period of two weeks. Yesterday's failure assumes more significance than the first in that it followed too close upon the heels of the initial failure, and, second, that the latest failure was recorded in face of an improvement and prospect of further improvement in the one factor which has been the principal sustaining force of the market, viz., money.

"In recording this second failure, the industrials declined to a point where they substantially violated the lower level of the so-called September range, which has stood as a resistance point since first week of September. It is to be anticipated that this group will rally moderately, undoubtedly under leadership of United States Steel, but that the rally will not continue for any length of time or accomplish much.

"I am brought to the rather irrevocable conclusion that so far as the industrial group is concerned, we have witnessed the highest average level for this group which will be witnessed this year; that despite further moves in specialties we have reached the point where all strength in industrial stocks, subject to the usual number of exceptions, should be utilized for liquidation. In order not to be misunderstood or to dodge the issue, the position is assumed at this time that the trend of industrial stocks is downward, not for a few days, but for a matter of weeks or months.

"If the industrial group is to decline substantially, as I believe it will, obviously the rail group cannot accomplish much, and while I do not believe that this group can advance at the present time, I do not believe that whatever decline is recorded is going to be severe."

Canadian Pacific gross from January 1 to October 14 totaled $144,207,000, against $142,263,000 in corresponding period of 1926.

Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co. in nine months ended September 30 earned $4.31 a share vs. $4.22 in same period of 1926. Earnings for September quarter were $1.60 a share, compared with $1.56 in this quarter of previous year.

Loans on stocks decrease in week. Report of the Federal Reserve Board shows gains in investments and time deposits. New York district has a drop of $54,000,000 in borrowings.

Banks offer $47,000,000 in Polish bonds. Seven per cent. twenty-year securities are priced at 92 to yield over 7.8 per cent. $25,000,000 issued abroad.

The first of the September railroad earnings will be published this week. A slight falling off from a year ago for same month is anticipated.

McClary, Sheet Metal Consolidation, Forms $15,000,000 Merger

London, Ont., Oct. 18.—Announcement of one of the largest industrial mergers in the history of Canada is made by officials of the McClary Manufacturing Company, which, with two other large concerns, have entered an amalgamation. The total money involved is somewhere in the neighborhood of $15,000,000.

The companies in the merger, besides McClary, are the Sheet Metal Products Company of Canada Limited, and the Thomas Davidson Manufacturing Company. The firms are being consolidated into one company, which will be known as the General Steel Wares Company Limited.

The McClary Manufacturing Company in entering the consolidation, will lose its identity, after being in business here for eighty years; the Sheet Metal Products Company, with headquarters at Toronto, for sixty years; and the Thomas Davidson Manufacturing Company for over seventy years. The consideration involved for the McClary firm here is reported to be $6,000,000 in cash, and the local plant will form the headquarters for the new company, which will be the largest company of its kind in Canada and the stove foundry the largest in the British Empire.

OFFICERS ANNOUNCED

John C. Newman, manager of the McClary firm, will be the president.

Other officers are Fred S. Corrigan, president of the Macdonald Manufacturing Company, vice-president and General Manager, and William S. Gibson, for twenty years with the Sheet Metal Products Company as vice-president in charge of sales.

It was stated here to-day that the formation of the new company is a purely Canadian undertaking and that there is no United States interests or money attached to the merger.

These firms, which together produce eighty per cent of the goods in their line in Canada, will allow the concentration of certain factories on specialized lines, according to Mr. Newman.

Six large factories are included in the amalgamation. The Sheet Metals Products Company, Toronto; the Macdonald Manufacturing Company Limited, Toronto, a subsidiary of S.M.P., the McClary Sheet Metal Factory and the McClary Stove Foundry, London; the Happy Thought Foundry Company Limited, Brandon, a subsidiary of the McClary Company; and the Davidson plant in Montreal.

MONTREAL

(By B.C. Bond Corporation Wire)

Montreal, Oct. 18.—Bullish enthusiasm received a check during Monday's trading in Montreal stocks. Chief influence in the direction being the easier trend which prevailed throughout most of the day in Wall Street. Stocks which have the largest speculative interests like Brazilian and few others felt the influence of this most, while others were but lightly effected, but the most impressed demonstration was the case of Power Corporation on the curb, a big demand developed. Theories that some big interests must be buying a footing went rounds of the street, but beyond the suggestion that it might be international Paper interests, nothing was advanced to explain the action in the stock. There was a marked difference in the picture compared with Saturday when the Newsprint issues made such a powerful demonstration. While there was a turnover in Spanish River the bullish tone faded away and the trading fell of fto small proportions. Considering the strength which has been displayed for some time reaction having small bullish moves. On the other hand it is believed that bullish move will be restrained until streets take turn for the better.

Bond Market

New York, Oct. 18. — Bond prices continued to drift aimlessly in to-day's market. Traders apparently were hesitant about adding to their commitments at the current high prices, particularly in face of new issues due on the market within a few days.

Polish bonds, particularly the 8s, were heavy. Bankers concerned with the flotation of the new Polish loan, offered this morning, reported that they were going well at the offering price of 92. Foreign obligations was a group held fairly steady.

A rise of more than a point in Atchison 4s to a new peak for the year was a feature of domestic group, in which most mortgages displayed a hesitant tendency. Standard Oil of New York 4½s, were moderately active around yesterday's final figures and Sinclair 6s fell back fractionally.

United States Government securities were quiet.

GERMAN PLAN TO CONTROL WORLD NOW SEEN IN NEW CHEMICAL TRUST

New York, Oct. 18—Speaking to-day in regard to the newly-created Franco-German Chemical Trust, Francis P. Garvan, president of the Chemical Foundation, branded the agreement between France, Germany and England as an effort to restore Germany's supremacy in the chemical trade not only as regards dyestuffs, but also in the control of drugs and other necessities.

"This is a fight to reassert European (in reality German—the French and English have been duped) supremacy in chemistry and chemical progress," said Mr. Garvan, "and that means German military supremacy and German industrial supremacy and German supremacy in drugs and material necessities."

Bennett Reaches New York, But Only To Meet a Friend

New York, Oct. 18.—"My business here has nothing to do with my holdings in the E. B. Eddy Company. I do not expect to see Mr. Graustein of the International Paper Company while I am here. My business here is strictly personal."

Thus Hon. R. B. Bennett in an exclusive interview with the Canadian Press to-day disposed of a rumor that he is here to negotiate with officials of the International Pulp and Paper Company for the sale of his majority share holdings in the Canadian firm of E. B. Eddy Company.

The newly-elected leader of the Conservative party came to New York Sunday and will return to Canada to-day. He stated that he hurried here from the Winnipeg Conservative convention in order to conclude some personal business with a European friend who is sailing for home at once.

BIG TAX CUT COMING IN U.S.

New York, Oct. 18.—A $350,000,000 tax cut is due, says Senator Smoot. He says he expects the slash in corporation levies to be 12 per cent, with the abolition of motor imposts in the coming session.

The senator bases his prediction on Congress economy.

Senator Smoot, returning to the capital, says crops and business in the West are good.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LYLE HAMILTON

CHAPTER LX

For two weeks Molly held her temporary job for the old cashier.

Two curt telegrams from Mr. Frazier were all the guide she had. It had seemed so easy, the work at that desk when she was secretary to the blunt-spoken, irascible president of the firm. Now, though she did not write nearly so many letters, and had only the same old private accounts to keep, the work was overwhelmingly hard.

There wasn't anybody to lean upon—there was no comforting sense that somebody else was to blame if things went wrong.

Matters that had seemed to be simply routine, before, turned out to be full of difficulties. Each one required a decision of some sort — and usually Molly had to make the decision.

She learned that it is not the time an officeworker spends at the desk that is fatiguing, but what he does with his brain. Molly's own brain fairly hurt, on certain days, as she wearily prepared to leave for the evening. If Bob had ever been half as tired as she, it was easy to understand why he had become so ill.

In one particular, however, Molly had it easier than Bob.

Mrs. Potter, grimly outspoken, rasping of tongue, violent of opinion, nevertheless revealed herself as an angel of mercy. She came to the apartment every day immediately after breakfast, helped clean it up, caustically gave cooking lessons to little Swedie at noontime, and herself prepared the dinner in the evening.

The pretty blonde, rapidly growing stronger, undertook the duty of personal maid for Molly.

"You're doing a man's work," she said, "and I'm going to see that you're treated like a man. I'll lay out a pair of easy shoes for you, and have your bath ready when you come home, and I'll comb your hair, and you'll be all refreshed and ready for dinner!"

"She never did that for her husband!" remarked Mrs. Potter, superintending the final browning of a roast chicken.

Molly said nothing. She never had done anything of the kind for Bob.

"It doesn't make any difference," said little Swedie. "I'm going to do it for her. I love to make people comfortable."

"Brownell wouldn't have been sick if you'd married him," announced Mrs. Potter.

Molly winced. She didn't dispute the slur upon her wifeliness. Furthermore, she was too tired to argue. She merely surrendered herself, in gratitude, to little Swedie's gentle ministrations, and tried to relax.

"I never knew a man's work in an office was so hard," she said.

Mrs. Potter planted her fists upon her hips. "Of course it's hard. Any job's hard that you do right. It's hard to be a good wife, too—harder than any job that women tackle. That's why most women dodge it. It takes brains."

The widow plainly was in high delight over the cooking lessons she gave to little Swedie. "She's going to do fine," she said. "She likes to please men—that's why she was a flirt. And for the same reason she'll be a dandy housekeeper."

Mary Holmquist sighed. "I wish my husband could see me now," she said. "I could make him so comfortable!"

Mrs. Potter shot a warning glance at Molly. They had not told the blonde girl that her husband was imprisoned. By agreement, they were not going to tell.

"I'd like to have him here, too," observed the widow. "What I'd feed him would fix him up fine!" She did not explain this utterance, but little Swedie understood.

"Nobody loves our husbands like we do, do they?" she whispered in Molly's ear.

Each morning and evening Molly had called the hospital by telephone. Each call brought more encouraging news of Bob's condition.

The day before Mr. Frazier was to return, and relieve Molly of her task, a messenger came to the office. He carried a note in his cap, addressed to Molly. She opened it, standing beside her littered desk—she had not been able to keep her desk as neat as she used to do, when she was merely taking orders.

"Mr. Brownell has asked to see you. It will be permissible for you to call upon him," said the note.

It was signed by the doctor's name. Molly flew to the old cashier. "May I get away? My husband is willing to see me!" she gasped, all in a breath.

"Go ahead—I'm about as bad off now as I can be," he mourned. "Come back if you can."

She had plenty of money in her handbag. A taxi was passing and she hailed it. "Hurry," she said to the driver, as she gave him the address.

As the machine rolled up to the hospital entrance she tossed the chauffeur a bill, and without waiting for change ran into the building.

Outside Bob's door she brought herself up with a jerk. She was about to rush in; to burst into tears; to sob to him how her heart had ached. But she must think about Bob—he was sick—this wouldn't do!

It was a tenderly smiling young woman who came into Bob's room, a calm-looking, happy Molly, who stretched her arms out to the man on the bed, and gathered his head to her heart, and held him.

"Are you better, dear?" she asked him.

He kissed the little hollow beneath her ear. "Better, dearest," he said. "Have you been all right?" he added, anxiously.

"I've been all wrong," she answered. Sitting sidewise on the bed she took both his hands in hers. "Bobsie, don't talk now—you've been dreadfully weak. But just listen to me. I've been hard and mean and selfish; I haven't taken care of you the way I should."

He shook his head and tried to speak, but she laid her hand on his mouth. "Please let me finish," she went on. "I wasn't a good wife because I hadn't brains enough to be. But Mr. Frazier and Mrs. Potter and all of them have been sweet to me—they've helped me so!"

She sank to her knees beside the high bed—only her head was visible above the coverlet. "There's only one thing that has been right about me—I've loved you all the time, sweetheart! Really I did!"

He lifted himself on his elbow, and bringing his head to hers, pressed his cheek against her hair. "I'm sorry I asked you not to come in here," he said. "But I was sick!"

She circled his head with her arms. "If I'd been the right kind of a wife, you'd have wanted me in here."

Then she told him of her adventures of the last two weeks. "Little Swedie's been taking care of me the way I ought to have done for you," she said. "I know how a wife ought to act, Bobsie—I didn't know before. And there's something else."

Then she reddened, and turning his head with her hands, she whispered in his ear.

He started bolt upright. "What!" he cried.

She nodded. "Molly, dearest!" he gasped. They embraced, and were silent a long time.

At last, she said: "And if it's a boy, we'll name it Mr. Frazier, and if it's a girl we'll call it Mrs. Potter. What, honeyboy?"

They laughed.

When, half an hour later, the nurse came in, Bob was smoothing Molly's hair, as she sat on a chair beside the bed.

"It's great to be married," he assured the nurse, with solemn earnestness. "You don't know how happy a married person can be, until you've tried it."

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

"The Stars Incline, But Not Compel"

(Copyright)

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1927

Although there is a strong benefic aspect early in the morning, according to astrology, sinister influences rule later.

Women may find the morning an auspicious time to deal with their financial affairs.

The seers prophesy for women great success in banks and foretell the rise of one who will make fame by her financial acumen.

This is a fairly fortunate sway for editors and writers. Many ambitious enterprises are indicated for them.

Advertising and publicity will attain the utmost importance from this date, it is foretold and many periodicals will benefit.

There is a sign read as menacing for the ambitions of certain aviators, but there will be substantial government of aerial navigation, it is foretold.

Investments should not be made under this direction of the stars, which astrologers find most unfavorable.

Again there is seen in the stars promise of novel methods of business co-operation which will add much to the wealth of the nation.

Care in signing contracts should be exercised while this configuration prevails.

Leases should be made with caution at this time when there is a prophecy of dissensions regarding rental scales.

The transit of Mercury, which will take place next month, is read as presaging war clouds.

Development of secret armaments and infernal inventions for blotting out life are supposed to be presaged by the transit.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of prominence in public affairs and general personal recognition.

Children born on this day probably will be sharp-witted and really clever. The subjects of this sign are likely to attain high government positions.

DEAN LECTURES ON "SAVONAROLA' LIFE"

The gripping story of the life of Savonarola, containing a sketch of the character of the men and incidents from his remarkable life leading up to the climax in his martyrdom, was related last night by the Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, in a lecture at the Memorial Hall.

Savonarola was not a reformer of Luther's or Calvin's calibre, the lecturer thought. Nor was he a Protestant in the doctrinal sense, although he was a passionate reformist and preached against the mediaeval church.

There is a colorful background to the story of the life of Savonarola, the Renaissance, Florence under the iron hand of the Medici in the fifteenth century, and the personal touch of Lorenzo in the Magnificent himself, were all brought into the lecture. The Dean described the "Burning of the Pyramid of Vanities." Then there was the fiasco of the "Ordeal by Fire," and the last poignancy of the martyr's execution.

Spiritual revivals had a recurring tendency, the lecturer declared. Christianity, he said, was not a negative or prohibitive code. Learning was only safe when consecrated to the service of God and men, he added. A self-adopted Christian morality was one of the biggest things in life. These were four lessons which the story of Savonarola brought home in the opinion of the lecturer.

Wife—"Golf, golf, golf! I believe if you spent a Saturday at home I should die."

Husband—"It is no use talking like that, my dear— you can't bribe me."

LETTER GOLF

LOT'S WIFE DID

This is a very salty one, from wife to salt. Lot's wife found it easy. Par is four, so step along. The answer is printed on page 15.

W	I	F	E

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change cow to hen, in three strokes, cow, how, hew, hen.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

French Tennis Stars Leave on World Tour

Paris, Oct. 18.—Jacques Brugnon, French Davis Cup star, accompanied by seventeen-year-old Christian Boussus, France's latest tennis sensation, left Paris for Bordeaux yesterday, where they embark on the steamship Massilia to-day for a journey which will take them around the world.

Jean Borotra will join his companions when the ship touches at Lisbon.

Henri Cochet and Rene LaCoste, the other members of France's great tennis musketeers, have abandoned the idea of making the trip because of the pressure of their occupations.

MUNICIPAL OFFICERS WELCOME PENSIONS

Appreciation Voiced of Legislation Creating Superannuation

Nanaimo, Oct. 18.—The B.C. Municipal Officers Association yesterday recorded, at the annual meeting held in the city hall, appreciation of legislation creating superannuation for municipal employees, and will present this action to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention to-day.

The association was in favor of municipalities being empowered to dispose of or use for sinking fund purposes, unclaimed surplus amounts received at tax sales above the upset price of properties sold, after such sums have been held in trust for six years. This resolution will be placed before the Union of Municipalities for its consideration.

Clerk A. W. Jackson of Kamloops was in the chair, and twenty-four delegates attended, when the proceedings opened. Robert Baird, Inspector of Municipalities, was a guest, and gave a brief address on aspects of municipal management coming under his supervision.

The following officers were elected: President, W. E. Wassen, clerk of Nelson; Vice-president, C. Callin, clerk of Ladysmith; secretary-treasurer, W. L. Brice, clerk of Chilliwack; executive, R. R. F. Sewell, clerk of Saanich; R. F. Blandy, clerk of Oak Bay; C. Boulton, treasurer of Burnaby; B. C. Bracewell, clerk of Penticton, and W. V. Tapworth, clerk of Kaslo.

ROADS LEAGUE HEARS BRILLIANT VETERAN SPEAK

Frank Terrace of Seattle, Good Roads Enthusiast, Gives Optimistic Message

By Staff Representative

Nanaimo, October 18—Mayor A. Wells Gray of New Westminster was given rounds of applause when introduced to the annual luncheon held yesterday at the Malaspina Hotel.

J. J. Johnston, president, congratulated Mr. Wells Gray on his election to represent New Westminster in the Legislature. Replying, Mr. Gray recalled that he has attended twenty-one sessions of the Union and expressed great interest in the work of the Good Roads League.

Samuel Hill, honorary president, spoke briefly and introduced Frank Terrace of Seattle as one of the most widely known campaigners for good roads in North America. His remarks were greeted with the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and cheers.

Frank Terrace delighted the delegates with a series of laughable narratives, and recalled that twenty years ago Victoria had the best roads on the Pacific Coast, attracting delegations of good roads enthusiasts eager for similar gravelled highways in their own communities in Washington. Mr. Terrace believed the magnificent highways of the Pacific states owed their inception to Victoria district's example.

He told of the investment of $30,000,000 in roads in one county, following upon construction of a sample one and a half mile stretch, which survived floods to the amazement of the farmers.

"Your slogan ought to be 'We are going to give North America the best roads ever seen during the present generation,'" Mr. Terrace declared, congratulating the league on the success already attained, and urging the delegates not to be discouraged when results come slowly.

"God gave you this beautiful land, but the gift carried a condition, that you should get your coat off and build good roads," he said, after a glowing description of the wonderful variety of the natural resources of the Pacific Northwest.

Mr. Terrace considered the farmers the most difficult class to convince to the need of good roads, and gave a long array of facts as to lowered costs of haulage and markets bettered, to show that farmers are the chief beneficiaries of good roads.

Mr. Johnston remarked that, if the Good Roads League had done nothing more than heard Mr. Terrace, the convention of 1927 would have been well worth while. Mr. Terrace was credited with having raised more money for good roads than any other man living.

Young wife (to husband who spends most of his time at his club) I believe, George, that mine will be the fate of Abel.

He—Good heavens! What do you mean?

She—Well, he was killed by a club, wasn't he?

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Jolly Pumpkin

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

The forty leven little bunny children of Uncle Wiggily (and of course there were forty-twelve, counting Baby Bunty), liked so much the sweet popcorn balls Mr. Longears made for them that they begged him to get more ready for the next day.

"Which I shall do, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily to his wife as he hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow one morning. "I'll go to the field and pick more ears of popcorn to make the sweet balls."

"You are always doing something for the children," said Mrs. Longears with a smile. But what about your adventure? If you go to the field to gather popcorn you will have no adventure."

The rabbit pushed the pumpkin down hill

"Oh, perhaps I may," answered the bunny uncle with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "Anyhow I ought not to be selfish. I have had so many adventures that I can skip one for the sake of giving more popcorn balls to our bunnies."

"He's a dear old rabbit!" squeaked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as she tied a bunch of feathers on the end of her long tail and went in the parlor to dust the piano.

So Uncle Wiggily hopped to the cornfield and he was looking for some ears of white kernels to pick, for corn that pops is white and not yellow like that of which chickens are so fond. Then all of a sudden, when the rabbit stretched out his paw to break off some popping ears, a voice behind him said:

"It was very cold out here last night!"

"My goodness!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, jumping up in the air and looking around. "Who are you?"

"A jolly yellow pumpkin," was the answer. "Though I would be more jolly if I hadn't been so cold last night."

"Oh, I'm glad you're a pumpkin and not a Fox or Wolf," said Mr. Longears as he smiled at the big, yellow Thanksgiving pie vegetable. "But what did you say about being cold?"

"I was cold last night, out here in your field, for Jack Frost was skipping about tickling me with his icicle fingers," said the pumpkin. "I would be more jolly only that I had to shiver so. When are you going to take me into your cellar and get ready for Thanksgiving?"

"Oh, Thanksgiving is more than a month away," said Uncle Wiggily. "I thought you would like to stay out in the field as long as you could. But if you would rather be picked off the vine and put in the dark cellar, why that can be done."

"I think you had better take me inside," said the jolly pumpkin who had bumps and holes on the side that made him look as if he had a face. And the face was smiling now. "I don't want to stay out with Jack Frost another night. Besides, who knows, perhaps before Thanksgiving pie time arrives I may be made into a Jack o' lantern for Hallowe'en. That woud be jolly I think!"

"You don't care what happens to you, do you?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Not as long as I can be jolly and make others happy," answered the pumpkin. "If I can give pleasure by being baked into a pie that's all right. Or if I can make fun for the boys and girls by being made into a Hallowe'en Jack o' lantern, so much the better. But I can't be jolly when I'm left out to freeze."

"Then I'll take you to my cellar with the carrots, cabbages and turnips," promised Uncle Wiggily. "You are so large, though, my jolly pumpkin, that I shall have to get my wheelbarrow to take you to my cellar. I couldn't carry you."

"If you will use your sharp teeth to nibble me loose from the vine, and give me a push, I will roll all the way down the hill to your bungalow," spoke the jolly pumpkin.

So Uncle Wiggily gnawed the big, jolly, yellow vegetable loose from the vine, leaving a short handle on the pumpkin. Then, just as the rabbit was going to push the pumpkin down hill, all of a sudden, out of a shock of cornstalks came sneaking Bob Cat. The bad chap tried to slink along quietly to catch Uncle Wiggily, but the pumpkin saw the hungry animal and whispered:

"Give me a quick push toward the Bob Cat that is coming to get you, Uncle Wiggily. Let me bump into him and knock him head over heels and then he can't bite you. It will be jolly fun!"

So the rabbit gentleman pushed the pumpkin down hill toward the Bob Cat. And before the bad chap could jump out of the way, the jolly pumpkin bumped into him, knocking him all the way head over heels down hill and hitting his nose on a stone.

"Oh, wowchie zow!" howled the Bob Cat as he slunk away. And the jolly pumpkin laughed and rolled right into the bungalow cellar. So everything happened for the best. And if the butter knife will lend the gold fish an overcoat to wear to the rag doll's party, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the pig's comb.

THE TINYMITES

BY BAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

And, sure enough, the kite was there, afloating nearby in the air. The Tinies stood and watched it as it floated overhead. It swayed and dipped and turned around, and then it started toward the ground. "Hurray, we soon will have it once again," wee Coppy said.

They watched it settle down with ease behind a clump of big oak trees. "Come on," exclaimed wee Carpy, "we can find it if we like. And then we'll take in another trip. Be careful as you run, don't slip. For me, I'd rather sail around most any way, than hike."

Right through the trees they quickly ran, an open space nearby to scan. "Ay, there's our kite," wee Clowny yelled. "Gee, but I'm glad it's back. With luck it seems that we are blessed. It's flown here from that eagle's nest. Just look, it isn't torn one bit, and has no break or crack."

The Tinymites then hopped aboard, and up the queer kite quickly soared. "Well, this is great. Just like old times," said Clowny, with a smile. "I hope that not a thing goes wrong, and that we don't stay up to long. I'd like to find another place to land in, after a while."

Just then a whirling sound was heard, and Coppy said, "That's not a bird. I wonder what it really is." Then he began to frown. "Look! It's a plane," he loudly cried. And, right above, the plane was spied. The Tinies quickly noticed that a rope was hanging down.

And, on the rope there was a hook. Quite suddenly, someone said, "Look! It's going to catch our flying kite. Say, this is dangerous play." Their tries to dodge it went to naught. The plane swooped down. The kite was caught, and ere the Tinies knew it they were being towed away.

COMES TO BRING SCOTS TOGETHER

Museum Needs Specimens and Financial Aid, Says V. T. Hodgson

Coming here for the purpose of interesting Scotsmen of the Canadian West in the West Highland Museum now located at Fort William, Inverness-shire, Scotland, V. T. Hodgson, Fellow of the Royal Society of Antiquaries, has been examining specimens of Indian workmanship and handicraft in remote parts of British Columbia.

His object, he says, in coming to Victoria is to ask those families which came from the Highlands in past years for museum specimens.

The West Highland Museum was inaugurated in 1922, one of the few institutions of its kind in existence, for the purpose of collecting and preserving objects and records of archaeological, antiquarian and natural scientific interest.

The object of the collections will be to illustrate the unique and romantic life of the Highland clansmen. Since the country where the little museum is built is poor and weakened by migration, Mr. Hodgson hopes to secure financial assistance from Scots who live in Canada.

While in Northern British Columbia he studied the Indian relics about Prince Rupert. They are, he considers, something of immense value, scientifically, historically and from a pecuniary standpoint. British Columbia does not make sufficient of her Indian setting, for it is colorful, he says, and full of romance and beauty.

Better the Man with His Eye to the Sky than the Man with His Ear to the Ground

ALL through its long, successful history, General Motors of Canada has had its eye to the horizon . . . listening not for what followed, but looking always toward the thing ahead.

And General Motors has seen many of its visions realized. . . . . .

It has seen a great industry grow up in Canada to supply the Canadian family with a means of transportation to meet its needs and resources, to answer the desire for style, dependability, luxury.

It has seen, in the Canadian Fisher Body plants, the perpetuation of Canadian ideals of craftsmanship.

It has seen, in the General Motors Research laboratories, the development of countless advances and refinements on which much of modern motoring comfort depends.

It has seen, on the General Motors Proving Grounds, the proof of principles which are now accepted factors in automobile design and construction.

It has seen the triumph of co-operative purchasing and manufacturing methods with their resultant economies to be shared with the buyers of General Motors cars.

And the eyes of General Motors are still to the horizon . . . still seeking new ways to improve General Motors cars and to place the cars within reach of ever-widening circles of Canadian buyers.
